Also, the appropriation of $7,500 for the commissioners of inland fisheries. Passed in concurrence.

In the house the committee on education reported the act placing the Rhode Island Institute for the Deaf in the charge of the state board of education and the commissioner of schools, and it was placed on the calendar.

Mr. Rattey followed the reporting of this act with a resolution for the appointment of a joint special committee to investigate the management of this institution, which was referred to the committee on special legislation.

The committee on education reported the act providing for traveling libraries, and as it carries an appropriation of $5,000 it was referred to the finance committee.

STOLE MONEY AND WATCH.

Italian Mill Operative Stabbed by Robber in Riverpoint.

RIVERPOINT, April 3.—John Carosella, aged 35 years, an Italian mill operative, is in a serious condition at his home here today as the result of being stabbed and kicked by three other Italians late last night. Robbery was the motive of the assault, and about $6 and a silver watch were taken. Carosella says he was going to his home, a few steps from the scene of the assault, when he was set upon from behind by other Italians and was stabbed six times in the back. Then he was knocked down and kicked brutally about the face and body. He was not treated by a physician until over an hour after the assault, and his chances for recovery are doubtful. Carosella provided the authorities with good descriptions of his assailants.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Considered by Convention of Association of Railway Commissioners.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Reports of several committees appointed at the last convention occupied the time of the National Association of Railway Commissioners at their sessions today.

Especial attention was paid to the report of Andrew F. Gates, the Connecticut chairman of the committee on railroad taxes and plans for ascertaining fair valuation of railway property. In 12 states of the Union, he said, there were constitutional limitations which prevented any uniformity of the method of taxation. Investigation, he said, had led to the conclusion that the best methods of taxation were either a tax on the gross earnings at a fixed rate or a tax based on the value of the property by what is known as to the stock and bond method. A tax on net earnings was not favored, because it was stated "bookkeeping makes them fluctuate."

The whole matter finally went over until tomorrow, in order to give the commissioners further time to consider it.

The report of the committee on uniform classification was submitted and embodied in it was the following resolution:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the convention that Congress enact a law, requiring the railroads engaged in interstate commerce throughout the United States to, within two years after the passage of such act, prepare and adopt a uniform classification of freight articles, and in case they fail to do so within the time required, that the interstate commerce commission at once proceed to make such classification, and when so made by such commission the same shall be the legal classification for interstate shipments."

LOEB THROWN FROM HORSE.

Badly Shaken Up, But No Bones Were Broken by the Fall.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—William Loeb, Jr., secretary to the President, was thrown from his horse last evening while riding, and was so badly shaken up that he will be unable to be at the White House today. No bones were broken, and it is expected he will be at his desk again in a day or so. The horse he was riding is a cayuse, presented to him by Captain Seth Bullock. He is a skittish animal and the accident happened by reason of the horse shying at an object at the roadside.

AT PRESIDENT'S SUGGESTION.

Price to be Paid for Indian Lands to be Increased.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The House committee on Indian affairs today agreed on an amendment to the bill recently passed, but returned by the President, opening for purchase 565,000 acres of pasture land belonging to the Kiowa, Apache and Comanche Indians in Oklahoma. The President's objection to the measure was that the price fixed, $1.50 an acre, for this land was too low. The price agreed upon today was $5 an acre.

MANILA, April 3.—Two companies of federal troops have arrived at Magtaon, on the island of Samar, to assist Governor Curry in suppressing the unruly Pulajanes.

Senator Long Speaks on Railroad Rate Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—When the Senate convened today Mr. Tillman presented his daily letter on the railroad and coal situation, the letter in this case being a complaint from C. W. Eden of Ballston Spa, N. Y., a coal dealer, who said that he had been crowded out of business by the Delaware & Hudson Railroad Company, which had set up a retail business of its own.

Mr. Hale protested against the daily introduction of these letters, and after a colloquy there was a tacit understanding that the daily presentation of the letters of this character by the South Carolina Senator would soon cease.

The conference report on the lacing bill was agreed to without discussion.

The employers' liability bill, which yesterday passed the House, was referred by the Vice President to the committee on interstate commerce.

The conference report on the bill for the adjustment of the affairs of the five civilized tribes of Indians was again laid before the Senate, but was laid aside without action, and the railroad rate bill taken up. Mr. Long took the floor to address the Senate on that measure.

Mr. Long traced the development of the doctrine of the judicial review of rates made by law, and showed that rates of a commission could not be made fixed beyond the power of the court to inquire into certain questions in relation to them. He contended that the decisions of the Supreme Court clearly showed that before a court will set aside a rate made by legislative authority it must clearly appear that the rate is so unjust or so unreasonable as to amount to taking property without just compensation; that the courts will only interfere with rates made by legislative authority when they are confiscatory, and they have defined confiscatory rates to be those which do not give a fair return on the property employed in performing the service. He declared that all the rights of the carrier were amply protected under the present jurisdiction of the court which would not be restricted or enlarged by this bill.

Mr. Long stated that he would not take the inconsistent position of contending that provision for review is now in the bill, and yet was unwilling to give expression to such review by an appropriate amendment. For this reason he had offered the amendment decided upon at the White House conference. He agreed with Mr. Knox that there should be no question of the

Believe Today's Conference Will Bear Fruit.

Mitchell Says He Will Make No Concessions.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Although nothing has occurred to change the situation, there was a general expectation today that the conference between the sub-committees of the anthracite operators and the miners, which will be held in the Jersey Central building later in the day, will bear fruit. There was a strong optimistic feeling among the representatives of the miners that something will occur greatly to relieve the situation. President Mitchell during the forenoon said there was no change in the situation so far as the miners are concerned. The men will stand firm for what they have asked, and he felt confident that the operators would not continue to maintain the attitude they have assumed up to the present time.

Mr. Mitchell denied all rumors that concessions would be made by him to-

NO HOPE FOR RATE AMENDMENT

Only a Few Republicans Will Support White House Plan.

WASHINGTON, April 2.--When the Senate adjourned late this afternoon and its members left the Capitol for their residences it was apparent to those who had spent the day in making a careful investigation into the chances for the adoption of the administration's limited court review amendment to the railway rate bill, approved at Saturday's White House conference and introduced in the Senate today, that the amendment has no show of being enacted into law. No doubt apparently remains that only a handful of Republicans will support the amendment, and it seems to be certain that it will not have the votes of a considerable number of Democrats.

It was confidently claimed up to this morning by some of those who favor radical rate regulation that 29 Republican Senators would vote for the amendment endorsed by the President, and these he called to the White House Saturday afternoon. At the end of the day these radicals were not so confident. They even went so far as to say that there was no list of 29, and to admit that much uncertainty surrounded the position of certain Senators. They might have added that no uncertainty whatever surrounds the position of at least a dozen Senators who are understood to have been regarded as favorable to the amendment, and were classified as such.

These then are opposed to the provision which came out of the White House conference, and while they are not declaring from the housetops that the yare heartily in favor of a liberal court review amendment, they have not hesitated to say so in confidence to those among their colleagues who believe as they do.

According to reliable information, the 29 Senators who were put down as favorable to the court review amendment endorsed by the administration are Allee, Allison, Ankeny, Beveridge, Burkett, Burrows, Carter, Clapp, Culton, Dick, Dillingham, Dolliver, Elkins, Fulton, Gamble, Hansbrough, Heanenway, Heyburn, Hopkins, Kittredge, La Follette, Long, Millard, Nelson, Piles, Perkins, Scott and Warner.

A careful canvass made today showed that an even dozen of these were out-and-out opponents to the amendment, and that of the remainder two were almost certain to vote with the conservatives. There was evidence also that seven of the remaining 15 were uncertain as to how they would vote, and some of them are believed to be willing to support a provision that goes a little further than the administration proposal in the direction of a more liberal measure of judicial review. At the most the rate bill leaders cannot hope to secure more than 47 Republican votes in the Senate for the proposition to limit the reviewing power of the courts over the rate-fixing orders of the interstate commerce commission. To redeem success this would require the votes of 28 Democrats, and there is no likelihood that they will be so fortunate.

TWO REBATE INDICTMENTS.

Grand Jurors Accuse Sugar Refining Company and New York Central.

NEW YORK, April 2.--It was learned at the federal building today, but not announced officially, that indictments have been found against the New York Central and Hudson River railroad and the American Sugar Refining Company for combining to give the sugar company rebates in various forms on all its through west-bound freight. No individuals have so far been indicted.

The New York Central railroad was charged with the other roads of giving the American Sugar Company rebates of from 7 to 15 per cent on its through west-bound tonnage. This amounted to from two to five cents per 100 pounds to Chicago.

The rebates were paid, it is charged, in the form of transfer and trucking charges to J. F. Bendernagel, superintendent of the American Sugar Company's refineries in Brooklyn, although 80 per cent of the sugar was dumped directly in the company's refineries.

Other forms the rebates took were lighterage charges, paid to Lowell M. Palmer. The railroads, although paying the trust for lighterage, did the job themselves, it was asserted.

MOROCCAN TREATY READY.

Revised Text of Agreement Will be Signed Saturday.

ALGECIRAS, Spain, April 2.—Today's sitting of the conference on Moroccan reforms, though primarily devoted to the framing of the protocol, assumed importance owing to various delegates moving resolutions directing the attention of the Sultan of Morocco to the necessity of internal reforms.

Mr. White, the chief of the American delegation, with the support of the Duke of Almodovar, president of the conference, directed attention to the unfavorable situation of Jews in Morocco.

Sir Arthur Nicolson, the British delegate, and M. Revoil, the first French delegate, advocated the abolition of slavery in Morocco.

Herr von Radowitz, the principal German delegate, made an appeal for the establishment of lighthouses on the coasts.

Count Bolesta-Koziebrodski, the second Austrian delegate, urged the importance of the publication of commercial statistics of the country.

The construction of railways was advocated by the Duke of Almodovar.

The conference requested the Italian minister in Morocco, Signor Malmusi, to proceed to Fez and communicate to the Sultan the fact that the conclusions reached by the delegates have been unanimously approved.

The revised text of the agreement will probably be signed Saturday.

WILL SIGN RATE BILL.

President Expected to Approve Any That Is Passed.

Senator Morgan Suspected of Still Favoring Nicaraguan Route for Isthmian Canal.

[Providence correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Several times I have indicated my belief, even to the point of positive assertion, that the railroad rate bill when it passed would be the measure which would meet the approval of the President. I see no reason in the light of developments to change my view. "Make no mistake about this matter," said Senator Dolliver to me. "Do not forget that the chief magistrate of this nation will approve any bill that is passed relating to railroad rates, and, further, there will be no changes made in the present bill that do not meet his approval. If the Senate amends the measure it will be in the direction of making its terms more plain, but not in the direction of restricting any of its provisions or its effectiveness."

Representative Rockwood Hoar of Massachusetts has been a busy man during the present session of Congress. He has not had an assignment on a committee of any great importance as committee places are rated, for he is a member of one of the elections committees and revision of the laws. The latter committee has been trying to secure the passage of a bill revising the criminal laws of the United States. Seven or eight years ago a commission was appointed to make the revision. It has cost many thousands of dollars; but, owing to vacancies by death and resignation, the commission has not been entirely successful. Hoar was known as a lawyer familiar with the criminal code of his state and was made a member of the sub-committee to go over the report of the commission. The result is that he has been one of the busiest Congressmen.

"I suspect," said Senator Ankeny of Washington, "from things I have heard drop that Senator Morgan favors the Nicaragua route for the Isthmian canal," Senator Ankeny is a member of the committee on interoceanic canals, and as member has been more regular in attendance than he. Day after day he has listened to the testimony given, and he has observed the cross-examination of witnesses by the Alabama Senator, and no doubt he has come to the conclusion that notwithstanding the fact that the place for the canal was settled long ago, Senator Morgan still clings to the Nicaragua route. Many of the questions asked by Morgan are of a character to confirm the view of the Washington Senator, although Senator Morgan said when the Panama route was adopted that he submitted to the inevitable and would give his best service to making the canal a success.

General Peter C. Hains told the Senate committee on inter-oceanic canals that a ship drawing 35 feet of salt water would require 39 feet of fresh water on account of the difference in buoyancy. He said that the Isthmian canal would contain fresh water to a large extent even if built on a sea level, because there would be a large inflow from the fresh water streams.

The committee on appropriations found it necessary to secure a special rule in order to get the legislative appropriation bill through the house, and it adopted a method that was found necessary on a somewhat similar occasion. When Charles F. Crisp of Georgia was speaker a filibuster was inaugurated against an appropriation bill, and the special order method was used to pass it. The late William C. P. Breckinridge of Kentucky led the fight at that time.

John L. Wilson, the representative of Washington, went up to Crisp during the vote on the special rule and said, "Mr. Speaker, I wish you would use the same kind of a derrick to put the Indian appropriation bill through."

"Have you got it fixed to suit you, John?" asked Crisp.

"I have got it loaded," chuckled Wilson, "and I am afraid of points of order."

But he did not get the special rule.

There were some amusing features in the debate in the House over useless documents and extravagance in public printing. Charles B. Landis says there will be a saving of between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 by the resolutions that have been passed, which is a great reform. Many members of Congress complained about the number of useless documents sent to them. "I have received," said Representative Cooper of Wisconsin, "three weighty documents called the 'Triassic Cephalopod Genera in America.' I think it strange that any one would think that I wanted it."

Representatives Gaines of Tennessee made complaint of the number of irrigation documents he was receiving, saying:

"I have had to send them to any man I could find who had a district within 200 miles of this great Sahara out in the West. I have written to every one whom I thought had little enough sense to send them to me please not to send them any more, and the more I write the more they send."

But the House only laughed at his distress.

One Break in Democratic Victory in Burrillville.

Moving Buildings to Make Way for the Providence Tunnel—The Johnston Poor Farm.

The election for town officers in Burrillville yesterday resulted in putting the bailiwick into the hands of the Democrats. They were successful in electing all their candidates, with the single exception of James S. Dwire, candidate for councilman. Since the caucus of the Democratic party three weeks ago, and even before that time, there have been rumors of trouble between the ex-leader of the Democratic party in Burrillville and some of the younger men, who have been doing the bulk of the work for the party in the Third district. In a recent meeting of the Democratic town committee the name of Herbert L. Joslin, an ex-councilman, was proposed in opposition to Dwire. The latter represents the younger element, and while he agreed to withdraw in preference to Councilman Tucker his friends would not permit it, and when they went into the caucus they re-nominated him against his wishes. The ex-leader of the Democrats then endeavored to effect a compromise and have Dwire withdraw in favor of some other, but the attempt was unsuccessful. Yesterday there were rumors in the Third district that Dwire and Town Sergeant John McCabe had been selected by the disgruntled Democrats of that district for knifing, and the fact that Dwire was defeated by 23 votes and the report to have been correct. McCabe also was a winner, by but 15 votes, while last year his plurality was over 100.

Appearances at the easterly end of the proposed underground tunnel to be built in Providence by the Providence Terminal Company begin to assume an aspect of actual business. Already some of the buildings recently purchased are being removed to other locations, according to agreements made at that time. Three of the buildings sold were to be removed by April 1, and all the contracts have been fulfilled. Two of these houses have found new locations and the third is now being moved. The other three buildings sold at that time will not be taken away until the fifteenth of this month, but matters in connection with moving them are not being delayed, as all three have been undermined and will be removed the first of next week. It is in the vicinity where these houses were located that the excavations will be made for the easterly opening of the tunnel, and matters for the letting of the contract have reached a point where the work will be begun as soon as all this property has been cleared off. The contract has not been awarded yet, but it is understood that figures have been asked for and the grant will be made before the end of the month. The first of May ought to see the work of excavation under way.

The taxpayers of Johnston traveled "over the hill to the poor farm" yesterday to attend the annual financial town meeting. It was called to order in the carriage shed of the town farm at 10 o'clock in the morning by Moderator Andrew B. Patton and lasted until nearly 2 o'clock. In that time the management of the farm, in its capacity as a purveyor of milk principally, received some frank and expert criticism. After a long debate it was decided that a committee—Henry S. Turner, B. A. Colvin and James E. Collin—should investigate the financial affairs of the institution and report, with what recommendations they should see fit, at an adjourned financial town meeting to be held June 4.

The open season for oysters above Field's Point and Kettle Point commenced Sunday, and yesterday morning 35 or 40 boats were engaged in digging seed oysters around the islands in the Seekonk river above Washington bridge. It is only between the first of April and the first of June, a period of two months, that the oystermen are permitted to take the sets of seed oysters from the waters above the points named. These beds lie principally in the Seekonk, between the two bridges, and the seed oysters obtained from these natural beds are sold to the oystermen down the bay, and by them transplanted, to be harvested later, when they attain their growth. The men reported that the supply of seed oysters appears to be plentiful this season, fully as much so as the average for the past few years.

One of the most daring acts of breaking and entering in Burrillville in recent years was committed at the old Arnold Steere farm on the Douglas pike, between the villages of Harmony and Chepachet, and about one and a half miles from the latter place, yesterday. The robbers secured more than $400 in money and a silver watch, valued at about $25. The Arnold Steere place is occupied by a Russian named Ryman Gylankas, a woodchopper. At the time the crime was committed, some time between 1 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon, Gylankas was away at work. He had left the house after dinner and returned about 5. He found that a window in one of the bedrooms had been broken and the room ransacked. In the bedroom had been concealed $100 in Russian gold pieces, $311 in American currency and a silver watch worth $25. The thieves had unearthed this, apparently taking their time about the whole proceeding, for evidences of their having made a meal were found about the house. The watch and all the money was gone, and the Ruselan's grief over his loss, the savings of years, was pathetic. He went at once to Chepachet and notified Town Sergeant Abraham L. Hawkins, who has requested the police of Providence and Woonsocket to be on the lookout for the man or men who committed the crime. There is absolutely no clue to them, however.

After a year of wandering, Earl Leslie Tingley returned to Providence and his mother's home Saturday evening, from Mississippi, where in response to a letter his mother had gone for him. Earl was seen by a reporter yesterday, but would not say anything about his wanderings. It was on the morning of January 24, 1905, that he left home, being then 14 years of age. One morning in January he left a Mississippi river steamboat and secured employment at the home of Mrs. John M. Pelham in Scranton. He won the hearts of the people there and told them of his mother and sister in Providence. They induced him to write, and thus his mother was made aware that he was still alive.

The situation of the strike at the Peace Dale mills remains unchanged. The company is proceeding with the construction of the mill boarding house with the purpose of providing quarters for help to run the mill. It was stated yesterday by a representative of the company that they expect to have a full complement of weavers this week. A proposition which the weavers made through President John Golden to William T. Steadman, a representative, has been rejected by the company. This proposition was to the effect that the weavers return to work, the company discharging all but a dozen of the men now employed; that these twelve men be put at work on the looms at the same work over which the controversy arose for one month, and that a committee of strikers be allowed to examine their work with a view to ascertaining if the strike breakers could do the work which it is claimed the strikers cannot do. This proposition the company considers impracticable, for one reason, that if the strikers were all taken back there would be no looms for the twelve men as suggested to run, and also for other vital reasons.

Joseph Provencher, a well known boat builder, died at an institution in Pawtucket Saturday, in the sixty-first year of his age. For some time he had been in poor health, suffering from rheumatism and heart trouble, and his death resulted from causes incident to these diseases. Joseph Provencher was born at Three Rivers, Canada, in 1845. He came to Rhode Island when a young man, and at the age of 23 married Miss Ida Myett of Saylesville. After his marriage Mr. Provencher moved to Pawtucket and began building boats at his shipyard in East Providence. About three years later he moved to East Providence, of which town he had been a resident for about 25 years. Mr. Provencher had a wide reputation as a builder and among the many craft which he constructed, are well known in local waters, is steamer Corsair, formerly owned by Captain George Hull and recently sold to Connecticut parties; the Pioneer, a steamer now on the Pawtucket Line, and steamer Ida, the name of which has been changed to J. W. Rice, Jr., and which is now in Boston waters. Mr. Provencher was not only interested in boat building, but was also an inventor of much ability. About six years ago he invented a water-tube boiler, and though he never manufactured them to any great extent, he frequently installed this type in the boats that he built. In addition to the steamers mentioned he constructed many launches and small craft for use in the bay. Some time ago Mr. Provencher's health failed and he was removed to the Pawtucket City Hospital. Later he was taken to an institution connected with the hospital, where he died Saturday.

The annual banquet of the Providence Chapter of the Institute of Bank Clerks will be held on the evening of April 18. The principal speaker will be Charles E. Hughes of New York, the prominent attorney who has been identified with the great insurance investigations.

The board of directors of the Westerly Automatic Telephone Company met yesterday afternoon and voted to issue $20,000 stock at par value. Of this amount $10,000 is reserved for the present subscribers, if taken and paid for between April 11 and May 10. A semi-annual dividend of two per cent was declared on all stock payable after May 1.

Lawrence Kelley, 64 years of age, a laborer, fell from a staging at Molter's Brewery, in Cranston, yesterday and lies in a critical condition at the Rhode Island Hospital. Mr. Kelley was at work on a small shed which is being erected near the grain room at the brewery, and for some cause not explained suddenly fell backward to the concrete walk beneath. He was rendered unconscious by the fall, and it was some time before he recovered. On examination it was found that one or more ribs were broken, in addition to the fracture in his skull. The serious extent of the injury is surprising, for the distance he fell was only about seven feet.

He was known to the Scotts, as his grandfather sold the first bit of Abbotsford to Sir Walter. Mr. Thomson was quite elated at the carriage stopping on his account. On going home he mentioned the incident, and he remembered his aunt saying: "Remember that. It will be something to tell when you are an old man."

They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out With Herpicide.

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth, with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

WAKING.

[Carolyn B. Lyman in Recreation.]

The warm south wind comes whispering
Along the willow stream,
With fond, sweet breath it gently wakes
The violets from their dream.

It murmurs 'long the sunny bank,
Each ferny hidden nook,
A low, sweet love-song to the flowers,
With murmurings of the brook.

It whispers that the buds are come,
The robin and the wren,
Their early song and warbling
Now wakes the morn again.

The children roam the sunny fields;
'Tis blossom time—they wait;
Yet wondering why the flowers dream
And why they sleep so late.

It whispers over land and lea;
The kind spring days are here,
Each heart it fills with life and song—
This waking time of year.

Upon its breath the butterfly
Will spread its golden wing;
Last year before its sleep it was
A tiny, creeping thing.

Yet now, how bright the glad new life!
The flowers, the wings of gold!
That Earth held in her bosom warm,
Through days of winter cold!

"Well, sir, you see," replied the gamekeeper, "there are about a dozen men in the parish that go to church when I'm not there, and would go poaching if I went to church."

MIDDLETOWN.

Citizens' Association, at Its Social, Announces a Full Ticket for Town Officers.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The Citizens' Association of Middletown, otherwise known as the Good Government Club, held its third and last social Monday evening at Oakland hall, with the largest attendance of the season. These socials have been in charge of an entertaining committee consisting of Dennis J. Murphy, John E. Wheeler and Philip Caswell, and have been a social success from the start.

The evening was opened informally by dancing, with Prescott Molden at the piano, Frank T. Peckham, cornet, and William Spooner, violin. At 9 o'clock a supper, comprising oyster stew, cold meats and rolls, cake and coffee, was served in the regular supper room, after which dancing was resumed for a short season. Later in the evening speeches were called for and were responded to by Mr. Philip Caswell, who thanked the ladies heartily for their co-operation and assistance in making the socials the success they had proved to be.

Mr. Reuben W. Peckham, being called upon to read the list of candidates which had been nominated by the Citizens' Association for town officers for the ensuing year, presented the following list, interspersed with clever short sketches of the men named:

Moderator—R. Jason Grinnell.

Town Clerk—Albert L. Chase.

Town Council—Joseph A. Peckham, Joshua Coggeshall, Philip Caswell, Arthur W. Chase, William R. Hunter.

Justices of the Peace—William Bailey, Elisha C. Peckham, George Coggeshall, Nathan B. Brown.

Town Treasurer—Charles H. Ward.

Town Sergeant—Robert Ellsha Grinnell.

Auctioneers—R. J. Grinnell, Richard H. Wheeler, James A. Taber.

Assessors of Taxes—Isaac L. Sherman, R. W. H. Peckham, Alden P. Barker, William Coggeshall, John H. Peckham.

Collector of Taxes—Joel Peckham.

Member of School Committee, in place of Mr. Robert Patterson (who has removed to Newport)—Rev. John B. Dinan.

Fence Viewers—Elisha C. Peckham, George Ward, William J. C. Chase.

Town Auditors—Howard R. Peckham, Reuben W. Peckham, W. L. Brown.

Commissioners on Stone Bridge—Joseph R. Coggeshall.

Cemetery Committee—Charles Peckham, R. J. Grinnell, Joseph L. Chase.

Short speeches by Mr. Howard R. Peckham and Mr. William J. Peckham met with much favor, and the statement, "Middletown expects every man to do his duty," was received with a burst of enthusiasm and applause. The gathering broke up about 11 o'clock with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," accompanied by the piano (Miss Sadie E. Peckham) and the cornet (Mr. Frank T. Peckham). More than 200 persons were present.

Mrs. Joseph Allen will entertain the choir of the Berkeley Memorial Chapel Wednesday afternoon, when a full rehearsal will be held for the Easter services.

A Lenten service will be held Friday evening at 7:30 at the Berkeley Chapel.

THE MIDDLETOWN CONTEST.

Middletown is to have its town meeting tomorrow, and for the first time in several years there will be two tickets for town officers, each supported by strong parties. The present town council during its long term of service has naturally created opposition, which has this year apparently developed into a counter party, which will give the present executive body a persistent contest for continued existence. Such a contest is the natural outcome of long tenure of power by any group of men, and does not necessarily mean that there is anything wrong with their administration of affairs, but indicates rather the growth of a desire for a change among those who have not been a part of or in close touch with the powers-that-be.

As competition is the life of trade, so opposition in politics is likely to tend to the betterment of communities. The present council in Middletown has done well for the town and its continuance in power will do no harm. On the other hand, the new movement is promoted by excellent citizens and its representatives, if elected, will undoubtedly conduct the affairs of the town honestly and well. In the meanwhile the usual quiet town is thoroughly stirred over the contest, and the result of the election will be watched with interest.

CONSULAR DERELICTIONS.

That was a severe arraignment which was made of the consular corps of this country by Assistant Secretary of State Peirce. He accuses some of the men who have represented the nation in the Orient of drunkenness, dissipation and immorality, and Secretary Root practically supports the arraignment by his message accompanying the report of the assistant. This is a sad state of affairs to become public just at this time, when the country is already surfeited with revelations of dishonesty, deception and wrong doing. That men of reputed probity and honesty should not be worthy of trust when they find themselves isolated in some degree from those of their own nationality, but should give themselves up to dissipation and indulgence in vice, is a revelation which was not expected and is humiliating to national pride.

Secretary Root in his comment on the report advises that arrangements be made for more regular and frequent inspection of the consular service, so that the character and conduct of those who represent the nation in far-off lands may be watched, and in case of the discovery of irregularities action may be taken for the improvement of the service. We cannot afford as a nation to gain the reputation of having inferior men in our employment in such important capacities, and if we are gaining such repute the sooner we rid ourselves of it the better. Such accusations as have been made by the State Department are too serious to be allowed to pass unrecognized and we need to do something at once to purify the consular service and free it from this reproach.

TRADE AND THE FLAG.

If trade follows the flag, it is not necessarily the flag of the trader. One illustration of this is the extensive trade of Belgium and Holland, whose foreign commerce is great, though they are among the smallest countries, with few foreign possessions and no fleets worth mentioning, and some of our statesmen are assuring us that foreign commerce requires a big navy. Another illustration of the same thing is to be found in our own foreign trade. Our best customer is Great Britain and in proportion to their population our best customers are her possessions, such as Canada, Australia and South Africa. Indeed, every extension of the British empire increases our commerce.

Our consul general in Cape Town reports that an American life insurance company has erected there the finest office building in South Africa, American architects have had their plans accepted for a big theatre and a palatial hotel, and the governor of the colony rides in an American automobile. At the other end of Africa, Egypt is prospering greatly under British administration, and with that prosperity comes an increased demand for American goods of many kinds. The American trader is closely following the English pioneer into the heart of Africa.

The French occupation of Madagascar injured our trade with that island, because the French discriminate in favor of their own goods. The Russian occupation of Manchuria had the same effect. But the, farther the British empire penetrates into Africa and Asia and the more Pacific islands it appropriates, the more business there is for American manufacturers. The fact that American steamships are scarce does not interfere in the least with the exportation of American goods to every country on the globe.

PROTECTION OF THE BIRDS.

The movement for the protection of birds is growing in extent and influence in this country, and it is well that this is so, for if it were not for such efforts the time might come in many sections when the absence of birds would be a serious matter for the farmers. In Germany the farmers are awaking to the need of action to protect the birds and prevent them from leaving the country. The advance of civilization and the closer cultivation of both city and suburban districts has resulted in the cutting down of old trees and small pieces of woods which have sheltered the birds and at the same time has destroyed the abiding place of hosts of insects upon which the birds fed, so that these have been compelled to migrate to other parts to find food and shelter. The filling of ponds and pools before the march of improvement and cultivation has also been the means of destroying the living place of myriads of insects which furnished food for birds.

All this means much to the farmers, who are now learning, almost too late, that they need the birds to protect their crops from the ravages of insects of which the birds are fond, and which they would keep in subjection if they had not been driven away by lack of shelter. So the farmers are putting up artificial homes for the birds, in the hope of luring them back to their old haunts. It is feared that the birds will not find these boxes and houses quite so much to their liking as homes of their own building in the trees and woods, but still it is hoped that they will return. Something of this same sort of experience has come in some sections of this country already, and is likely to be common if the efforts for the protection of the birds are not successful. But they are likely to be, for already good results have come from the movement and the recognition of the need is always half the battle in such a case as this.

REPORT OF THE TRUESDALE COMMITTEE.

The report of the Truesdale committee appointed to investigate the Mutual Life Insurance Company under the McCurdy regime is really an indictment of the members of the committee. The negligence and extravagances which the committee finds characterized the former management of the company under the general control of the directors, and it would have been better if they had investigated before the Armstrong committee instead of after it. Since that committee reported there has not been much for Fowler committees or Truesdale committees to do.

McCurdy denied that he sat in a thousand-dollar chair at a six-thousand-dollar desk on a twelve-thousand-dollar rug, but the fact is disclosed that $90,000 of the company's funds was spent in Paris for furniture for the suite of private offices occupied by him. Of course there is always a little extravagance of that sort, but there are limits—or there ought to be—and the prodigality in furnishing the rooms used by the president of the company was only a symptom of the general extravagance and love of luxury and power which characterized the whole regime. The committee finds that the business of life insurance "seems to have given place to the ambition for power and influence in the business and financial world."

This is the general indictment of the life insurance officers who were investigated last fall. They were held to no sense of accountability, and they forgot their responsibilities and thought only of increasing their own potency in the financial world. The Truesdale committee agrees with the Armstrong committee in opposing deferred dividend policies and in a limitation upon the amount of insurance to be written by each company annually. Wild competition has led to paying more for new business than it was worth to the companies.

THE PROBLEM IN CHICAGO.

Chicago is voting today on three propositions regarding municipal ownership of street railways, as follows. "Shall the city of Chicago proceed to operate street railways?" "Shall an ordinance be passed by the city council of Chicago providing for the issue of street railway certificates, in amount not to exceed $75,000,000, the money to be used for the purchase of the existing street railway companies?" "Shall the city council proceed without delay to acquire municipal ownership and operation of all street railways in Chicago instead of granting franchises to private companies?" The first proposition must receive 60 per cent of the vote cast on it to become binding; a majority will carry the other two. There is also an election of aldermen today, for which the nominations have been made not on regular party lines but on the issue of municipal ownership and a high license for saloons.

The first of the insurance reform bills has passed the New York legislature, been signed by the governor and is now a law. It regulates the election of the directors or mutual life insurance companies, providing that all these companies shall elect new boards of directors November 15, and that all proxies obtained before September 15 shall be void. The enactment of this bill will give the policy holders of all mutual companies an opportunity to continue in office the present directors or elect new ones.

John Alexander Dowie, erstwhile high priest of Zion, having been dethroned by his former followers, after having been denounced for his polygamous teachings, tyranny, extravagance and hypocrisy, deprived of his property and deserted by his wife and son, who agree to the proceedings which denuded him of the last vestige of power, is evidently effectually down and out.

There is a possibility that the coal strike may be avoided, after all. It is said to require only a little concession on the part of the operators and miners' representatives. May that little not prove a stumbling block!

The Moroccan conference was a long time reaching an agreement, but it has finally come. It does not altogether please everybody, but nobody expected that, and few expected an agreement.

The situation in the Senate over the railway rate regulation bill is said to be more confusing than ever, one Senator saying yesterday that "confusion worse confounded" is the only adequate description of the case.

The City Council has another opportunity this evening, but no one knows or can predict in advance what it will do.

ODD METHODS OF EXERCISE.

[Tit-Bits.]

Most people who have passed their first youth discover that some particular form of exercise suits them better than any other and often end by becoming devoted to that special exercise. In a few cases hobbies of this kind develop in such peculiar fashion as to be worthy of record.

An example in point is that of a well known Londoner recently retired from the active management of an enormous business which is still in existence and undertakes contracts for almost every government in the world. This gentleman when residing in his London house gets up early, takes a bath, then goes to bed again for two hours. He rises a second time, partakes of light refreshments and then puts on very heavy clothes. Though he has splendid carriages of his own, an ordinary four-wheel cab is called and waits at the door. It is the butler's duty to find out the exact direction of the wind and when this has been ascertained the gentleman gets into the cab and drives as near as may be exactly into the eye of the wind for a distance of precisely two miles. He then gets out and walks home with the wind at his back at measured pace, the cab following close behind.

This same gentleman has at his country home an asphalted walking track precisely two miles long. At certain distances are small rest houses, in each of which is to be found a goodly stock of umbrellas and mackintoshes, as well as refreshments, solid and liquid. He himself walks round this track every morning and expects all his guests to do the same. If it rains they are, of course, always within reach of shelter and can either wait till the rain ceases or continue under cover of mackintosh or umbrella.

Another wealthy Londoner, who is perhaps one of the busiest men alive, declares that he has no time for taking ordinary exercise sufficient to keep him in proper health and condition. He has, however, discovered a substitute. Every morning he is driven to the house of a well known electrical specialist, and there receives half an hour of electrical massage. This, he declares, is worth two hours of any other form of exercise, and his appearance seems to confirm his statement.

There are instances of men whose only exercise is taken in the hours of darkness. An eccentric millionaire who has a villa at Cimiez, on the Riviera, fears the light of day as he would the plague, owing to a witch's prophecy, and walks out only at night, a closed and shuttered carriage always in attendance lest any accident might possibly delay him until the dreaded dawn.

A wealth American, Mr. John Kinnaler, who lives near Detroit, has had a treadmill fitted in his house. The story is that many years ago he was imprisoned for an offense of which he was innocent. He found the treadmill such a splendid form of exercise that after he was released he had one constructed for his private use, and every day takes two half hours upon the machine. He declares that there is nothing like it for keeping down weight.

A "PUT-AWAY CATALOGUE."

Mr. Billtops Suggests a Listing of Things We Pile up at Home, That a Few May be Found.

[New York Sun.]

"If indexing scrapbooks is a good thing to do, as no doubt it is," said Mr. Billtops, "why wouldn't it be a good thing to catalogue things that you 'put away,' so that you know where to find them?

"'Where could I have put that?' I have just heard Mrs. Billtops exclaim. She is looking for something that she had put away safely and securely. She thought she had put it in a certain trunk, and she has got that trunk open, and has got stuff from it scattered all over the floor. But it isn't there, and finally she puts the stuff back in the trunk and searches elsewhere. At last she finds the thing she is looking for in the right-hand back corner of the top drawer of a bureau in another room.

"I find by experience that if I make notes of a conversation that I desire to remember, I must, when I come to write that conversation out, rely for my recollections of it on my notes almost solely; while, if I rely on my memory entirely, I can, if the subject is one in which I am interested, recall the talk much more completely and accurately. In other words, our memory rewards trust in it, and, as with any other faculty, it is improved by exercise.

"But I do not find that this applies to inanimate objects, to things 'put away.' Such things we can forget as completely as though they had never existed, and so for such things I go in for a catalogue.

"Mrs. Billtops does one thing—among many—that has always struck me as great. Whenever we move she always insists that all the keys of every sort shall be carried together in a handy bag, in which are carried also a screwdriver and a gimlet and one or two other indispensable household tools, and in which are put also all the screws taken out of furniture in dismantling it for removal. If anybody uses the screwdriver or any of the keys they must always be brought back and put in that bag.

"Now this bag is, as you might say, a sort of mechanical catalogue to which we can always turn with confidence. And now what I propose is an actual catalogue to be kept of things put away. I don't mean things put away or packed at moving time, but things of various sorts and of one sort and another that we 'put away' from time to time after use.

"You wouldn't index this catalogue; you wouldn't need to; but I should think you would want to arrange it alphabetically, say a page or two for each letter.

"As we grow older, if I may again diverge, or seem to diverge, for a minute, we accumulate things; we come to have boxes and barrels and trunks of things that we hate to throw away and when we come to hunt for a thing put away in this manner we have to go through half a dozen boxes before we find it. If we would make a complete inventory of the contents of each of these boxes and trunks when we put them away we would find that a most convenient thing; but perhaps that is too much to expect most people to do. But we could make and keep a catalogue of the things we put away from time to time. For instance:

"An occasion comes around on which we want to wear grandma's brooch, which we haven't worn, say, for 17 years, and Mrs. Billtops goes to get it out and—it isn't there! And then:

"'Where could I have put it?' says Mrs. Billtops; 'I was sure I put it here.'

"Then begins the search for it, with no brooch, always dearly prized, growing dearer every moment that it is missing, and the search may take hours, costing much time and trouble and worry. We do find it at last, and we have a sense of great relief at the first it is!'

"Now how much better it would have been if when we put it away we had set down the place where we put it in the catalogue.

"Why Mrs. Billtops, who thinks of everything, has never thought of this, I'm sure I don't know; but I'm sure that when I suggest it to her she'll start at once a catalogue of things put away."

MAYFLOW DESCENDANTS.

The annual business meeting of the Society of Mayflower descendants in Rhode Island was held yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the Historical Society in Providence. Governor Asa Clinton Crowell presided.

The historian's report showed 71 members now in the society. Four resigned during the past year, and two, Mrs. Walter Howland Manchester and Charles Frederick Taylor, died. Thirty-five Mayflower passengers are represented by descendants on the rolls of the society.

The committee on nominations presented the following list of officers for the coming year: Governor, Asa Clifton Cromwell; deputy governor, Charles Henry Warren; elder, Rev. Daniel Goodwin, D. D.; captain, Hunter Carson White, Jr.; secretary, Harry Austin Slocomb; treasurer, George Corliss Nightingale; historian, George Thomas Hart; surgeon, Walter Lee Munro, D. D.; board of assistants, Winfred Harold Munro, Fletcher Stone Mason, Addison Pierce Munroe, Miss Grace Woods Slocum, Mrs. John A. Cross, Mrs. Henry Washington Wilkinson, Mrs. Charles Warren Lippitt. The names proposed were unanimously accepted by the society. The list of officers is the same as last year except for the substitution of Mrs. Charles Warren Lippitt for Mrs. Walter H. Manchester on the board of assistants.

An informal reception followed the adjournment of the business session.

Yesterday was the two hundred and eighty-fifth anniversary of the election of the first governor of the Plymouth Colony.

Representatives were present from Hyde Park, Fall River, Taunton, Brockton and Quincy on the Old Colony system and from Lynn, Lowell, Lawrence, Chelsea, Salem, Wakefield, Gloucester and Nashua, N. H., on the Boston & Northern system.

Resolutions were adopted condemning those members of the Massachusetts senate who voted against the overtime bill or who were absent. The position of the United Mine Workers was endorsed.

THE SPRINGS OF JAMAICA.

When the Natural History Society was called to order last evening the audience learned with regret that Mr. Richard Bliss was ill, and therefore would not be able to give his lecture on "Methods of Teaching Natural History" at that meeting. President Taylor, however, assured those present that Mr. Bliss's paper would undoubtedly be presented at a future session. He then introduced Dr. A. J. Anderson, who in a recent trip to the Island of Jamaica visited and investigated several mineral springs which are locally famed for their medicinal virtues.

Dr. Anderson said this is the age of surgery, but while surgery has been brought to a marvelous degree of perfection medicine can often be used effectively to prevent the necessity of an operation. Among materials having great medicinal qualities he classed mineral waters. It is not necessary to go to Europe to find these. Jamaica, which one may reach in four days from New York or five days from Boston, abounds in springs of wonderful healing powers. The climate of the island is excellent, there being an extreme range of only about 35 degrees for the year.

The virtues of Jamaica's springs have been known for many years, but the inhabitants of the island are inclined to be somewhat indolent, the population is not dense, and scarcely any effort seems to have been made to bring these waters to the attention of invalids and physicians. Ease of access, good hotel accommodations and a widespread knowledge of their remarkable qualities would soon make these springs a source of great profit to their owners and to the people of the island generally.

Mineral springs are found in many parts of the island, but the three to which the lecturer called special attention are the Bath of St. Thomas the Apostle, in St. Thomas; the Jamaica Spa, in the mountains near Newcastle, and the Milk River Baths, in Vere. Tradition says that the Bath of St. Thomas was discovered by an escaped slave, who cured himself of ulcers by using the waters for bathing. It is situated about 45 miles from Kingston. The springs are in a deep gorge, one and a half miles from the town. The conveniences for bathing are excellent, marble and cement plunge baths for men and women having been built and kept in fine order. The character of the waters is sulphurous and they run at a temperature of 120 to 130 degrees. The medicinal value of the water can hardly be exaggerated. Gout, rheumatism and disorders of the stomach in many cases yield readily to the effects of the water. The best time of the year to visit the springs is in the comparatively dry months, March April, June and August. The bath and its vicinity offer attractions to the naturalist as well as to the invalid. The neighborhood is noted for its ferns and butterflies, and striking geological formations abound.

The Jamaica Spa is situated about 3,500 feet above the sea level. Its waters possess almost the same characteristics as those of the spa in Belgium. But to reach Jamaica Spa from New York is only a matter of a few days, while to go to the Belgian watering place takes much longer, and is a much more trying and expensive trip. The spring at Jamaica Spa is ferro-aluminous in character. It is much stronger in iron and alum constituents than St. Moritz or Swalbach. Jamaica Spa is but 15 miles from the city of Kingston, finely situated, and capable of development into a great health resort. It is remarkable that it has not already become one, for there can be no doubt of the efficacy of its waters.

On the banks of the Milk river in Vere there are other baths. These date from 1791. They seem to possess the same astonishing medicinal qualities as those already mentioned. Even paralysis has yielded to these thermal baths. Their character is saline and silicic. The waters run at a temperature of 72 degrees and resemble those of Homburg, Wiesbaden and other European baths of repute. Dyspepsia and diabetes are successfully treated with these waters. Chronic and acute rheumatism also are cured without difficulty, and the cures appear to be permanent.

A trip to Jamaica need not be expensive. The fares from Boston are reasonable and the steamer accommodations first-class. Board on the island is not at all exorbitant, averaging possibly $3.50 per day. Fruits, especially oranges and bananas, are plentiful and cheap. The climate is ideal. One may have good shooting and fishing or revel in the beauties of tropical forests. Commerce is making Jamaica better known to the Americans and tourists from the United States are always well received and hospitably treated.

Dr. Anderson answered several questions asked by persons in the audience, and after an interesting evening the society adjourned.

OUTDOOR DRILLS AT FORT ADAMS.

The advent of pleasant weather will make quite a difference in the drills at Fort Adams. The soldiers will now be able to have practice with the guns instead of attending the artillery school, and as soon as the parade ground is fit there will be infantry drills. The Captain Drum goes out mornings to give the men practice in range finder work by day, and beginning this evening the General Swartwout will go out once a week for night practice with searchlights and the range finder. This practice will be continued as long as the weather permits. As a result of the Swartwout's trips at night and the working of the searchlights, no one need be afraid that Spanish ships are attacking the port, for it will be only practice.

ALGONKINS BEAT ATLANTICS.

At the Algonkins' hall last evening the Algonkin second intermediates defeated the Atlantics at basket ball by a score of 52 to 14. In the first half the score was 20 to 10, and in the second the Algonkins scored 32 points and the Atlantics 4. The line-up

THE "PEEP O' DAY" ENCORE.

It loks as if another large audience will be on hand to greet the St. Joseph's Dramatic Club in its second performance of "Peep o'-Day." Those who saw the first performance of the drama, given last week by the club, speak highly of the excellent work done by the young people who take part.

"Peep o' Day" has an interesting plot, bright dialogue and an abundance of comedy. The costuming is said to be the most elaborate ever given an amateur production in this city, and other details are looked after with a care which makes the entertainment different from the ordinary run of amateur affairs.

During the action of the play songs are rendered by Misses Gifr and Coffey and Messrs. Frank Foley, Dan Coffey and "Philly" Fitz. The drama is produced under the supervision of Mr. Arthur P. Jennings.

NEW FREIGHTER POQUONNOCK.

The new freight steamer Poquonnock, recently built at Philadelphia, is expected to go on the New Bedford line about April 15. She is said to be larger than any freighter which has run to New Bedford, and this makes the New Bedford people think more attention will be given to that port in the future. Before going on the line the Poquonnock will be here for a short while, to receive supplies from the repair shop. The passenger service on the New Bedford line will begin June 22, when the Cape travel is expected to open.

FOUND DEAD AT FAIRHAVEN.

The police have received inquiries from Fairhaven, Mass., in relation to Thomas Foster, who was found dead in a boat at that place March 22. It appears that Foster formerly lived here, boarding with Mrs. Lacey at 130 Long wharf, until he left for New Bedford. He was a fisherman, and was a gentlemanly sort of a man, taking excellent care of his rooms and his apparel. He told Mrs. Lacey he was 85 years of age, though he looked much younger, and that he had two sons in the West—in California, she thinks; his wife is dead. He belonged in Gloucester. According to reports heard by the fishermen on Long wharf he had been ill with pneumonia, and his death was probably due to going out too soon after he thought he was well.

FUNERAL OF DONATO RUSSO.

The funeral of Donato Russo was held this morning from St. Joseph's Church and was attended by a large number of friends and fellow-citizens. The Foresters and Knights of Sherwood Forest, in which he was for many years prominent, were out in full ranks and the Italian Brotherhood also turned out practically every member, while the Italians were largely represented and many other friends made the funeral one of the largest seen here for some time.

The requiem mass was celebrated by the pastor, Father Mahon, who also read the funeral service. The interment was in the family lot in St. Mary's cemetery, whither the body was escorted by the societies. The bearers were Louis Schaefer and Charles A. Pedrocki, from the Knights of Sherwood Forest; Gaspero Amatruso and Emilio Guerrieri, from Court Pride of the City, and Peter Cappuccilli and Michele Nardelli, from the Italian Brotherhood. There were a number of handsome floral tributes.

PROSPECTIVE CITY COUNCIL BUSINESS.

The City Council will hold its monthly meeting this evening. Just what will be done is a question. The matter of declaring Bateman avenue a public highway will come up, perhaps the widening of Coggeshall avenue may come up, and the matter of the city solicitor acting—or rather not acting—as prosecuting officer for the Police Commission will come up, as Chief of Police Crowley has written Mayor Cottrell in relation to the refusal of City Solicitor Brown to act. There may also be some talk on granolithic sidewalks, following the report of the highway committee asking for $50,000 for new walks, and there may be other things, for now that pleasant weather approaches it seems likely that a number of people will want improvements made in their localities.

JAMESTOWN.

(Regular correspondence of the News.)

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Worden left yesterday on a short visit to Narragansett.

The firemen are arranging for a progressive whist social.

The youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Head is quite seriously ill with pneumonia.

Mr. A. M. Bailey of Hope Valley, who conducted a market here for ten years before moving to the west part of the state, is in town today, renewing old acquaintances.

A. W. Luther has rented the east store in his building on Ferry wharf to W. F. Davis of Providence.

Barge William H. McCleave arrived this morning with a cargo of pea coal for the Ferry company. This, with the load nearly discharged from barge James E. Mulholland, will give the company more than 1,000 tons of coal on hand.

Lighter Archer arrived last evening with a load of material for the new wharf and joined the dock building fleet already here.

Tomorrow will probably be the quietest town meeting experienced here in a number of years. As according to the present law only the town officers can be voted for and they are unopposed, being the same without exception who now hold office, the meeting will be adjourned to some later day to transact the remainder of the town's business.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

WILL IMPERIL ITS CONSTITUTIONALITY.

right of the carrier that had been injured by an order of the commission to sue the commission in the United States circuit court, and stated that, while he was satisfied with the House bill in this particular, yet in order to remove all question as to its constitutionality he offered the amendment giving the right to sue the commission in the United States court, and giving jurisdiction to the court to hear and determine the question whether the order of the commission was beyond its authority in violation of the rights of the carrier secured by the constitution. He believed that the courts would assume this jurisdiction under the bill as it was passed by the House, and he does not favor enlarging their present jurisdiction.

Mr. Long contended that the effort is being made to amend this bill so as to substitute the judgment of the courts upon the questions which are for the judgment of the commission.

Mr. Long said that if there is placed in this bill a provision for review similar to the provisions in the different states as shown by the document prepared by Senator Knox one of three things would happen.

"First, the United States courts will follow a course similar to that taken by the supreme court of Minnesota in exercise the rate-making function and confine their consideration of the rate as they do now, to the question as to whether it is confiscatory, and as to whether the commission acted within the authority of the law; or second, the courts will assume the jurisdiction; or third, the Supreme Court, taking a course similar to that taken by the supreme court of Kansas in the court of visitation case, will determine that this attempt to confer upon the courts the legislative and administrative function of fixing rates is unconstitutional, for the reason that the constitution gives to Congress the power to regulate interstate commerce and Congress cannot transfer that power to the courts."

Concerning these propositions, Mr. Long said: "If the court should take the first course under such a provision for review as is desired by the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. Lodge) and the Senator from Ohio (Mr. Forraker) no injury would be done, and those who favored this legislation would not be disappointed; but if the court should take either the second or third course which I have designated—and I think that one of these two courses would surely be taken—then the purpose and object of this legislation would entirely fail.

"And so, while I believe that this bill would not be held unconstitutional in its present form, yet I am willing to place in it provisions that are more definite along this line. But I am not in favor of any provision for review similar to those in the different states, to which reference has been made, because I believe that such a provision would imperil the constitutionality of the law."

FOUR HOURS' DEBATE.

Representative Williams Reports National Quarantine Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The House today was treated to the unusual spectacle of Mr. Williams (Miss.) reporting a rule from the committee on rules, bringing before the House the national quarantine bill, provision being made by the rule that four hours' debate shall be had on the bill, and that a vote shall be taken at 5 o'clock.

Mr. Dalzell (Penna.) facetiously called the attention of the House to the position assumed by the leader of the minority reporting a rule to consider a great constitutional question which might with entire propriety be considered for a week or even three weeks, that, instead of the widest latitude being given the consideration of the bill, the leader of the minority now proposed to "gag" the House by limiting the debate to four hours and compelling the body to vote an hour afterward. This sally brought a round of applause, the leader of the minority participating in the humor of the situation.

Mr. Williams said that he would express his opinion during the debate of a code of rules which required him, in order to secure consideration of a bill intended to protect the women and children of a third of the country from the ravages of a foe more deadly than an armed host, to resort to such a procedure.

On the adoption of the rule, the vote was 109 to 32.

COUNT ON MICHIGAN CASES.

Senators Now Sure Rate Bill is Unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Conservative Republican Senators who have contended that the House railroad bill would be unconstitutional, if passed without an amendment giving to common carriers their "day in court," have accepted yesterday's decision of the Supreme Court in the Michigan railroad tax cases as positive affirmation of their position. Several of these Senators met today in the committee room of Senator Aldrich, and after a conference Senator Knox was requested to examine the decision with a view to informing them just what bearing it will have on the pending rate bill. From a hasty examination, Senator Knox declared that it seemed to be in accord with the opinion he has held since the House bill was reported by the Senate committee without amendment.

Supporters of the House bill are not disturbed by the Michigan case, contending that the opinion of Justice Brewer is dictum so far as it concerns pending legislation.

INCREASE OF $4,000,000.

Value of Exports From St. John to England and Africa.

ST. JOHN, New Brunswick, April 3.—Incomplete statistics of the winter season just closed showed a remarkable increase in the value of exports from this port to England and South Africa. The total value of exports to date is $17,287,337, an increase of over $4,000,000 over the season of 1904-05. One sixth of this amount was represented by United States produce. It is estimated by shippers that final figures will show a total value of exports exceeding the sum of $20,000,000. It is estimated that the total grain exportation for the season will reach 6,000,000 bushels. The shipment of cattle already exceeds by 1,300 that of last year.

John Connell's Funeral.

FALL RIVER, Mass., April 3.—At the funeral today of John Connell, for many years an employe on the Fall River line boats, floral tributes were received from H. H. Rogers and Henry Clews. Mr. Connell is credited with having made $100,000 in Wall street, on tips from New York millionaires.

Earthquake Felt in Ashland, Ore.

ASHLAND, Ore., April 3.—Shortly after 9 o'clock last night a distinct earthquake was felt here. The vibrations lasted nearly two seconds.

THE TELEGRAPHONE.

Wonderful Machine in Which Captain Eldridge Expects to Interest Newporters.

Captain George W. Eldridge, whose name has become known all along the coast because of the publication of his coast charts is in town, but is now devoting himself to a new line of work. He is giving demonstrations with the Poulson Telegraphone, an invention from Denmark which is so novel and promises to fill such an important void that it has been exciting a great deal of attention from the scientists of the world.

A News representative was given an opportunity of inspecting the instrument at the captain's rooms at The Pelham today, and found it to be an instrument which records speech upon a fine steel wire, and retains it for future transmission to any who may desire to listen. In practicable use it permits a business man to talk to this steel wire, and later his stenographer may transcribe the words on a typewriter, or conversation may be recorded and filed away for future reference in case of dispute.

Thus far it performs that which talking machines are said to do, on more perishable records. Where the machine revolutionizes present methods is its adaptability to attachment to the telephone service, so that in the absence of the person desired the message may be delivered to the machine, and by it retained until the person wanted returns and listens to the machine call it off. Yet another feature, though in a little different form, is its ability to record sounds or speech upon an indestructible steel disk, which may then be sent by mail and save the trouble of letter writing.

An American company has been formed to introduce the machine in this country, and this has already begun the construction of machines at Wheeling, W. Va. The American company has applied for patents upon a number of improvements to the foreign machine, and it is Captain Eldridge's purpose to interest Newporters in the invention, which it is predicted will become a great assistant to the conduct of business, as has the telephone, which is now an indispensable article, though made practicable only 30 years ago. A few of these machines are already in practical use in this country, though the American company is not yet ready to turn out machines of its own make.

There seems to be a wide field of uses to which the machine may be put, but the practical test to which it is subjected here may strike one as the most surprising. A Newporter calls up Captain Eldridge by telephone and makes an appointment; then upon making his call the machine reels off to him the very conversation which transpired when the appointment was made, with all the changes in voice.

ONE OF THE OLD LANDMARKS.

Evening Times Building of Buffalo Partly Destroyed by Fire.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 3.—Fire early today partially destroyed the Evening Times building, causing a loss estimated at $200,000. The loss is covered by insurance. The building was one of the old landmarks of lower Main street, having been built in 1870. It was four stories high and extended through the block from Main to Washington street.

The fire, which started from some unknown cause on the second floor near the Main street, swept through the upper floors in an incredibly short time. Some time after the fire was under control heavy machinery came crashing through from the third floor to the basement, carrying several firemen, with it. Fireman D. Reidy and William Cogan were rescued in an unconscious condition and removed to a hospital. The others escaped with slight injuries. Reidy and Cogan will recover.

At one time the Courier Lithographing Company on the north and Landis Hotel on the south were threatened, but heavy fire walls saved both buildings.

Norman E. Mack, proprietor of the Times, was en route for Detroit last night. He was notified of the fire when he reached St. Thomas, Ontario, and returned to Buffalo this morning. The Times will be issued from the office of the Morning Express today.

Mr. Mack on his arrival home viewed the ruins and later said: "I will order new presses at once, and will rebuild as soon as I can get at it."

He added that he had received offers of assistance from all the associates in the business, and had accepted the offer of George Matthews of the Express, because, that being a morning newspaper, it will be possible to run the two papers off without interfering with each other.

Exile From Costa Rica Arrives.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Tobias Zuniga, who was a candidate for president of Costa Rica at the primaries in that country last November and who was later ordered by his rivals to leave the country, arrived here today on steamer Prinz August Wilhelm from Port Limon.

Utica Bed Factory Burned.

UTICA, N. Y., April 3.—The large four-story manufactory owned by the Foster Brothers Manufacturing Company, and devoted to the making of iron beds and spring mattresses, was burned today. The loss is placed at $350,000. The insurance is about $240,000. There are branches of the establishment in Toronto, St. Louis, Montreal and Winnipeg. The plant will be rebuilt as soon as possible.

French Delegates at Algeciras Receive Instructions From Paris.

FOR JEWS IN MOROCCO.

Text of Resolution Introduced in Algeciras Conference.

ALGECIRAS, Spain, April 3.—The text of the resolution in behalf of the Jews in Morocco introduced yesterday by Ambassador White, head of the American mission, at the conference on Moroccan reforms, sets forth that the Sultan is disposed to accord the Jews equity, but his functionaries do not always sufficiently share the sovereign's tolerance and justice. Continuing, the resolution says:

"The American delegation therefore asks the conference to record its sentiment in favor of the Sultan's continuing a tolerant attitude, and that the Sultan instruct his functionaries that Israelites and all the subjects without distinction of belief be treated with equity and justice."

The resolution was accorded unanimous and cordial support, including that of the Moorish delegates.

MASQUERADE BASKET BALL.

There will be a unique game of basket ball in the Young Men's Christian Association gymnasium tonight. Although the names of the players have not been announced, they are known collectively as "The Hodgsonkins" and "The Dubbs." It is rumored that in the search for suitable make-ups many have been compelled to ask the assistance of ladies. At all events the audience will be treated to many surprises and the members expect considerable amusement.

THE MIDDLETOWN CONTEST.

Middletown is to have its town meeting tomorrow, and for the first time in several years there will be two tickets for town officers, each supported by strong parties. The present town council during its long term of service has naturally created opposition, which has this year apparently developed into a counter party, which will give the present executive body a persistent contest for continued existence. Such a contest is the natural outcome of long tenure of power by any group of men, and does not necessarily mean that there is anything wrong with their administration of affairs, but indicates rather the growth of a desire for a change among those who have not been a part of or in close touch with the powers that be.

As competition is the life of trade, so opposition in politics is likely to tend to the betterment of communities. The present council in Middletown has done well for the town and its continuance in power will do no harm. On the other hand, the new movement is promoted by excellent citizens and its representatives, if elected, will undoubtedly conduct the affairs of the town honestly and well. In the meanwhile the usual quiet town is thoroughly stirred over the contest, and the result of the election will be watched with interest.

CONSULAR DERELICTIONS.

That was a severe arraignment which was made of the consular corps of this country by Assistant Secretary of State Peirce. He accuses some of the men who have represented the nation in the Orient of drunkenness, dissipation and immorality, and Secretary Root practically supports the arraignment by his message accompanying the report of the assistant. This is a sad state of affairs to become public just at this time, when the country is already surfeited with revelations of dishonesty, deception and wrong doing. That men of reputed probity and honesty should not be worthy of trust when they find themselves isolated in some degree from those of their own nationality, but should give themselves up to dissipation and indulgence in vice, is a revelation which was not expected and is humiliating to national pride.

Secretary Root in his comment on the report advises that arrangements be made for more regular and frequent inspection of the consular service, so that the character and conduct of those who represent the nation in far-off lands may be watched, and in case of the discovery of irregularities action may be taken for the improvement of the service. We cannot afford as a nation to gain the reputation of having inferior men in our employment in such important capacities, and if we are gaining such repute the sooner we rid ourselves of it the better. Such accusations as have been made by the State Department are too serious to be allowed to pass unrecognized and we need to do something at once to purify the consular service and free it from this reproach.

TRADE AND THE FLAG.

If trade follows the flag, it is not necessarily the flag of the trader. One illustration of this is the extensive trade of Belgium and Holland, whose foreign commerce is great, though they are among the smallest countries, with few foreign possessions and no fleets worth mentioning, and some of our statesmen are assuring us that foreign commerce requires a big navy. Another illustration of the same thing is to be found in our own foreign trade. Our best customer is Great Britain, and in proportion to their population our best customers are her possessions, such as Canada, Australia and South Africa. Indeed, every extension of the British empire increases our commerce.

Our consul general in Cape Town reports that an American life insurance company has erected there the finest office building in South Africa, American architects have had their plans accepted for a big theatre and a palatial hotel, and the governor of the colony rides in an American automobile. At the other end of Africa, Egypt is prospering greatly under British administration, and with that prosperity comes an increased demand for American goods of many kinds. The American trader is closely following the English pioneer into the heart of Africa.

The French occupation of Madagascar injured our trade with that island, because the French discriminate in favor of their own goods. The Russian occupation of Manchuria had the same effect. But the farther the British empire penetrates into Africa and Asia and the more Pacific islands it appropriates, the more business there is for American manufacturers. The fact that American steamships are scarce does not interfere in the least with the exportation of American goods to every country on the globe.

PROTECTION OF THE BIRDS.

The movement for the protection of birds is growing in extent and influence in this country, and it is well that this is so, for if it were not for such efforts the time might come in many sections when the absence of birds would be a serious matter for the farmers. In Germany the farmers are awaking to the need of action to protect the birds and prevent them from leaving the country. The advance of civilization and the closer cultivation of both city and suburban districts has resulted in the cutting down of old trees and small pieces of woods which have sheltered the birds; and at the same time has destroyed the abiding place of hosts of insects upon which the birds fed, so that these have been compelled to migrate to other parts to find food and shelter. The filling of ponds and pools before the march of improvement and cultivation has also been the means of destroying the living place of myriads of insects which furnished food for birds.

All this means much to the farmers, who are now learning, almost too late, that they need the birds to protect their crops from the ravages of insects of which the birds are fond, and which they would keep in subjection if they had not been driven away by lack of shelter. So the farmers are putting up artificial homes for the birds, in the hope of luring them back to their old haunts. It is feared that the birds will not find these boxes and houses quite so much to their liking as homes of their own building in the trees and woods, but still it is hoped that they will return. Something of this same sort of experience has come in some sections of this country already, and is likely to be common if the efforts for the protection of the birds are not successful. But they are likely to be, for already good results have come from the movement and the recognition of the need is always half the battle in such a case as this.

REPORT OF THE TRUESDALE COMMITTEE.

The report of the Truesdale committee appointed to investigate the Mutual Life Insurance Company under the McCurdy regime is really an indictment of the members of the committee. The negligence and extravagance which the committee finds characterized the former management of the company under the general control of the directors, and it would have been better if they had investigated before the Armstrong committee instead of after it. Since that committee reported there has not been much for Fowler committees or Truesdale committees to do.

McCurdy denied that he sat in a thousand-dollar chair at a six-thousand-dollar desk on a twelve-thousand-dollar rug, but the fact is disclosed that $50,000 of the company's funds was spent in Paris for furniture for the suite of private offices occupied by him. Of course there is always a little extravagance of that sort, but there are limits or there ought to be—and the prodigality in furnishing the rooms used by the president of the company was only a symptom of the general extravagance and love of luxury and power which characterized the whole regime. The committee finds that the business of life insurance "seems to have given place to the ambition for power and influence in the business and financial world."

This is the general indictment of the life insurance officers who were investigated last fall. They were held to no sense of accountability, and they forgot their responsibilities and thought only of increasing their own potency in the financial world. The Truesdale committee agrees with the Armstrong committee in opposing deferred dividend policies and in a limitation upon the amount of insurance to be written by each company annually. Wild competition has led to paying more for new business than it was worth to the companies.

THE PROBLEM IN CHICAGO.

Chicago is voting today on three propositions regarding municipal ownership of street railways, as follows: "Shall the city of Chicago proceed to operate street railways?" "Shall an ordinance be passed by the city council of Chicago providing for the issue of street railway certificates in amount not to exceed $75,000,000, the money to be used for the purchase of the existing street railway companies?" "Shall the city council proceed without delay to acquire municipal ownership and operation of all street railways in Chicago instead of granting franchises to private companies?" The first proposition must receive 60 per cent of the vote cast on it to become binding; a majority will carry the other two. There is also an election of aldermen today, for which the nominations have been made not on regular party lines but on the issue of municipal ownership and a high license for saloons.

The first of the insurance reform bills has passed the New York legislature, been signed by the governor and is now a law. It regulates the election of the directors of mutual life insurance companies, providing that all these companies shall elect new boards of directors November 15, and that all proxies obtained before September 16 shall be void. The enactment of this bill will give the policyholders of all mutual companies an opportunity to continue in office the present directors or elect new ones.

John Alexander Dowie, erstwhile high priest of Zion, having been dethroned by his former followers, after having been denounced for his polygamous teachings, tyranny, extravagance and hypocrisy, deprived of his property and deserted by his wife and son, who agree to the proceedings which denuded him of the last vestige of power, is evidently effectually down and out.

There is a possibility that the coal strike may be avoided, after all. It is said to require only a little concession on the part of the operators and miners' representatives. May that little not prove a stumbling block!

The Moroccan conference was a long time reaching an agreement, but it has finally come. It does not altogether please everybody, but nobody expected that, and few expected an agreement.

The situation in the Senate over the railway rate regulation bill is said to be more confusing than ever, one Senator saying yesterday that "confusion worse confounded" is the only adequate description of the case.

The City Council has another opportunity this evening, but no one knows or can predict in advance what it will do.

ODD METHODS OF EXERCISE.

[Tit-Bits.]

Most people who have passed their first youth discover that some particular form of exercise suits them better than any other and often end by becoming devoted to that special exercise. In a few cases hobbies of this kind develop in such peculiar fashion as to be worthy of record.

An example in point is that of a well known Londoner recently retired from the active management of an enormous business which is still in existence and undertakes contracts for almost every government in the world. This gentleman when residing in his London house gets up early, takes a bath, then goes to bed again for two hours. He rises a second time, partakes of light refreshments and then puts on very heavy clothes. Though he has splendid carriages of his own, an ordinary fourwheel cab is called and waits at the door. It is the butler's duty to find out the exact direction of the wind and when this has been ascertained the gentleman gets into the cab and drives as near as may be exactly into the eye of the wind for a distance of precisely two miles. He then gets out and walks home with the wind at his back at measured pace, the cab following close behind.

This same gentleman has at his country home an asphalted walking track precisely two miles long. At certain distances are small rest houses, in each of which is to be found a goodly stock of umbrellas and mackintoshes, as well as refreshments, solid and liquid. He himself walks round this track every morning and expects all his guests to do the same. If it rain they are, of course, always within reach of shelter and can either wait till the rain ceases or continue under cover of mackintosh or umbrella.

Another wealthy Londoner, who is perhaps one of the busiest men alive, declares that he has no time for taking ordinary exercise sufficient to keep him in proper health and condition. He has, however, discovered a substitute. Every morning he is driven to the house of a well known electrical specialist, and there receives half an hour of electrical massage. This, he declares, is worth two hours of any other form of exercise, and his appearance seems to confirm his statement.

There are instances of men whose only exercise is taken in the hours of darkness. An eccentric millionaire who has a villa at Cimiez, on the Riviera, fears the light of day as he would the plague, owing to a witch's prophecy, and walks out only at night, a closed and shuttered carriage always in attendance lest any accident might possibly delay him until the dreaded dawn.

A wealth American, Mr. John Kamsler, who lives near Detroit, has had a treadmill fitted in his house. The story is that many years ago he was imprisoned for an offense of which he was innocent. He found the treadmill such a splendid form of exercise that after he was released he had one constructed for his private use, and every day takes two half hours upon the machine. He declares that there is nothing like it for keeping down weight.

A "PUT-AWAY CATALOGUE."

Mr. Billtops Suggests a Listing of Things We Pile up at Home, That a Few May be Found.

[New York Sun.]

"If indexing scrapbooks is a good thing to do, as no doubt it is," said Mr. Billtops, "why wouldn't it be a good thing to catalogue things that you 'put away,' so that you know where to find them?

"'Where could I have put that?' I have just heard Mrs. Billtops exclaim. She is looking for something that she had put away safely and securely. She thought she had put it in a certain trunk, and she has got that trunk open, and has got stuff from it scattered all over the floor. But it isn't there, and finally she puts the stuff back in the trunk and searches elsewhere. At last she finds the thing she is looking for in the right-hand back corner of the top drawer of a bureau in another room.

"I find by experience that if I make notes of a conversation that I desire to remember, I must, when I come to write that conversation out, rely for my recollections of it on my notes almost solely; while, if I rely on my memory entirely, I can, if the subject is one in which I am interested, recall the talk much more completely and accurately. In other words, our memory rewards trust in it, and, as with any other faculty, it is improved by exercise.

"But I do not find that this applies to inanimate objects, to things 'put away.' Such things we can forget as completely as though they had never existed, and so for such things I go in for a catalogue.

"Mrs. Billtops does one thing—among many—that has always struck me as great. Whenever we move she always insists that all the keys of every sort shall be carried together in a handy bag, in which are carried also a screwdriver and a gimlet and one or two other indispensable household tools, and in which are put also all the screws taken out of furniture in dismantling it for removal. If anybody uses the screwdriver or any of the keys they must always be brought back and put in that bag.

"Now this bag is, as you might say, a sort of mechanical catalogue to which we can always turn with confidence. And now what I propose is an actual catalogue to be kept of things put away. I don't mean things put away or packed at moving time, but things of various sorts and of one sort and another that we 'put away' from time to time after use.

"You wouldn't index this catalogue; you wouldn't need to; but I should think you would want to arrange it alphabetically, say a page or two for each letter.

"As we grow older, if I may again diverge, or seem to diverge, for a minute, we accumulate things; we come to have boxes and barrels and trunks of things that we hate to throw away and when we come to hunt for a thing put away in this manner we have to go through half a dozen boxes before we find it. If we would make a complete inventory of the contents of each of these boxes and trunks when we put them away we would find that a most convenient thing; but perhaps that is too much to expect most people to do. But we could make and keep a catalogue of the things we put away from time to time. For instance:

"An occasion comes around on which we want to wear grandma's brooch, which we haven't worn, say, for 17 years, and Mrs. Billtops goes to get it out and—it isn't there! And then:

"'Where could I have put it?' says Mrs. Billtops; 'I was sure I put it here.'

"Then begins the search for it, with the brooch, always dearly prized, growing dearer every moment that it is missing, and the search may take hours, costing much time and trouble and worry. We do find it at last, and we have a sense of great relief at the 'Here it is!'

"Now how much better it would have been if when we put it away we had set down the place where we put it in the catalogue.

"Why Mrs. Billtops, who thinks of everything, has never thought of this, I'm sure I don't know; but I'm sure that when I suggest it to her she'll start at once a catalogue of things put away."

MAYFLOW DESCENDANTS.

The annual business meeting of the Society of Mayflower descendants in Rhode Island was held yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the Historical Society in Providence. Governor Asa Clinton Crowell presided.

The historian's report showed 71 members now in the society. Four resigned during the past year, and two, Mrs. Walter Howland Manchester and Charles Frederick Taylor, died. Thirty-five Mayflower passengers are represented by descendants on the rolls of the society.

The committee on nominations presented the following list of officers for the coming year: Governor, Asa Clinton Cromwell; deputy governor, Charles Henry Warren; elder, Rev. Daniel Goodwin, D. D.; captain, Hunter Carson White, Jr.; secretary, Harry Austin Slocomb; treasurer, George Corliss Nightingale; historian, George Thomas Hart; surgeon, Walter Lee Munro, D. D.; board of assistants, Wilfred Harold Munro, Fletcher Stone Mason, Addison Pierce Munroe, Miss Grace Woods Slocum, Mrs. John A. Cross, Mrs. Henry Washington, Wilkinson, Mrs. Charles Warren Lippitt. The names proposed were unanimously accepted by the society. The list of officers is the same as last year except for the substitution of Mrs. Charles Warren Lippitt for Mrs. Walter H. Manchester on the board of assistants.

An informal reception followed the adjournment of the business session.

Yesterday was the two hundred and eighty-fifth anniversary of the election of the first governor of the Plymouth Colony.

THE SPRINGS OF JAMAICA.

Dr. Anderson Speaks of Their Medicinal Value, at the Natural History Society.

When the Natural History Society was called to order last evening the audience learned with regret that Mr. Richard Bliss was ill, and therefore would not be able to give his lecture on "Methods of Teaching Natural History" at that meeting. President Taylor, however, assured those present that Mr. Bliss's paper would undoubtedly be presented at a future session. He then introduced Dr. A. J. Anderson, who in a recent trip to the Island of Jamaica visited and investigated several mineral springs which are locally famed for their medicinal virtues.

Dr. Anderson said this is the age of surgery, but while surgery has been brought to a marvelous degree of perfection medicine can often be used effectively to prevent the necessity of an operation. Among materials having great medicinal qualities he classed mineral waters. It is not necessary to go to Europe to find these. Jamaica, which one may reach in four days from New York or five days from Boston, abounds in springs of wonderful healing powers. The climate of the island is excellent, there being an extreme range of only about 35 degrees for the year.

The virtues of Jamaica's springs have been known for many years, but the inhabitants of the island are inclined to be somewhat indolent, the population is not dense, and scarcely any effort seems to have been made to bring these waters to the attention of invalids and physicians. Ease of access, good hotel accommodations and a widespread knowledge of their remarkable qualities would soon make these springs a source of great profit to their owners and to the people of the island generally.

Mineral springs are found in many parts of the island, but the three to which the lecturer called special attention are the Bath of St. Thomas the Apostle, in St. Thomas; the Jamaica Spa, in the mountains near Newcastle, and the Milk River Baths, in Vere. Tradition says that the Bath of St. Thomas was discovered by an escaped slave, who cured himself of ulcers by using the waters for bathing. It is situated about 45 miles from Kingston. The springs are in a deep gorge, one and a half miles from the town. The conveniences for bathing are excellent, marble and cement plunge baths for men and women having been built and kept in fine order. The character of the waters is sulphurous and they run at a temperature of 120 to 130 degrees. The medicinal value of the water can hardly be exaggerated. Gout, rheumatism and disorders of the stomach in many cases yield readily to the effects of the water. The best time of the year to visit the springs is in the comparatively dry months, March April, June and August. The bath and its vicinity offer attractions to the naturalist as well as to the invalid. The neighborhood is noted for its ferns and butterflies, and striking geological formations abound.

The Jamaica Spa is situated about 3,500 feet above the sea level. Its waters possess almost the same characteristics as those of the spa in Belgium. But to reach Jamaica Spa from New York is only a matter of a few days, while to go to the Belgian watering place takes much longer, and is a much more trying and expensive trip. The spring at Jamaica Spa is ferro-aluminous in character. It is much stronger in iron and alum constituents than St. Moritz or Swalbach. Jamaica Spa is but 15 miles from the city of Kingston, finely situated, and capable of development into a great health resort. It is remarkable that it has not already become one, for there can be no doubt of the efficacy of its waters.

On the banks of the Milk river in Vere there are other baths. These date from 1791. They seem to possess the same astonishing medicinal qualities as those already mentioned. Even paralysis has yielded to these thermal baths. Their character is saline and calcic. The waters run at a temperature of 72 degrees and resemble those of Homburg, Wiesbaden and other European baths of repute. Dyspepsia and diabetes are successfully treated with these waters. Chronic and acute rheumatism also are cured without difficulty, and the cures appear to be permanent.

A trip to Jamaica need not be expensive. The fares from Boston are reasonable and the steamer accommodations first-class. Board on the island is not at all exorbitant, averaging possibly $3.50 per day. Fruits, especially oranges and bananas, are plentiful and cheap. The climate is ideal. One may have good shooting and fishing or revel in the beauties of tropical forests. Commerce is making Jamaica better known to the Americans and tourists from the United States are always well received and hospitably treated.

Dr. Anderson answered several questions asked by persons in the audience, and after an interesting evening the society adjourned.

OUTDOOR DRILLS AT FORT ADAMS.

The advent of pleasant weather will make quite a difference in the drills at Fort Adams. The soldiers will now be able to have practice with the guns instead of attending the artillery school, and as soon as the parade ground is fit there will be infantry drills. The Captain Drum goes out mornings to give the men practice in range finder work by day, and beginning this evening the General Swartwout will go out once a week for night practice with searchlights and the range finder. This practice will be continued as long as the weather permits. As a result of the Swartwout's trips at night and the working of the searchlights, no one need be afraid that Spanish ships are attacking the port, for it will be only practice.

ALGONKINS BEAT ATLANTICS.

At the Algonkins' hall last evening the Algonkin second intermediates defeated the Atlantics at basket ball by a score of 52 to 14. In the first half the score was 20 to 10, and in the second the Algonkins scored 32 points and the Atlantics 4. The line-up

THE "PEEP O' DAY" ENCORE.

It loks as if another large audience will be on hand to greet the St. Joseph's Dramatic Club in its second performance of "Peep o' Day." Those who saw the first performance of the drama, given last week by the club, speak highly of the excellent work done by the young people who take part.

"Peep o' Day" has an interesting plot, bright dialogue and an abundance of comedy. The costuming is said to be the most elaborate ever given an amateur production in this city, and other details are looked after with a care which makes the entertainment different from the ordinary run of amateur affairs.

During the action of the play songs are rendered by Misses Gay and Coffey and Messrs. Frank Foley, Dan Coffey and "Philly" Fitz. The drama is produced under the supervision of Mr. Arthur P. Jennings.

NEW FREIGHTER POQUONNOCK.

The new freight steamer Poquonnock, recently built at Philadelphia, is expected to go on the New Bedford line about April 15. She is said to be larger than any freighter which has run to New Bedford, and this makes the New Bedford people think more attention will be given to that port in the future. Before going on the line the Poquonnock will be here for a short while, to receive supplies from the repair shop. The passenger service on the New Bedford line will begin June 22, when the Cape travel is expected to open.

FOUND DEAD AT FAIRHAVEN.

The police have received inquiries from Fairhaven, Mass., in relation to Thomas Foster, who was found dead in a boat at that place March 22. It appears that Foster formerly lived here, boarding with Mrs. Lacey at 130 Long wharf, until he left for New Bedford. He was a fisherman and was a gentlemanly sort of a man, taking excellent care of his rooms and his apparel. He told Mrs. Lacey he was 65 years of age, though he looked much younger, and that he had two sons in the West in California, she thinks; his wife is dead. He belonged in Gloucester. According to reports heard by the fishermen on Long wharf he had been ill with pneumonia, and his death was probably due to going out too soon after he thought he was well.

FUNERAL OF DONATO RUSSO.

The funeral of Donato Russo was held this morning from St. Joseph's Church and was attended by a large number of friends and fellow-citizens. The Foresters and Knights of Sherwood Forest, in which he was for many years prominent, were out in full ranks and the Italian Brotherhood also turned out practically every member, while the Italians were largely represented and many other friends made the funeral one of the largest seen here for some time.

The requiem mass was celebrated by the pastor, Father Mahon, who also read the funeral service. The interment was in the family lot in St. Mary's cemetery, whither the body was escorted by the societies. The bearers were Louis Schaefer and Charles A. Pedoretti, from the Knights of Sherwood Forest; Gaspero Amarose and Emilio Guerrieri, from Court Pride of the City, and Peter Cappuccilli and Michele Nardelli, from the Italian Brotherhood. There were a number of handsome floral tributes.

PROSPECTIVE CITY COUNCIL BUSINESS.

The City Council will hold its monthly meeting this evening. Just what will be done is a question. The matter of declaring Baleman avenue a public highway will come up, perhaps the widening of Coggeshall avenue may come up, and the matter of the city solicitor acting—or rather not acting—as prosecuting officer for the Police Commission will come up, as Chief of Police Crowley has written Mayor Cottrell in relation to the refusal of City Solicitor Brown to act. There may also be some talk on granolithic sidewalks, following the report of the highway committee asking for $50,000 for new walks, and there may be other things, for now that pleasant weather approaches it seems likely that a number of people will want improvements made in their localities.

JAMESTOWN.

(Regular correspondence of the News.)

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Worden left yesterday on a short visit to Narragansett.

The firemen are arranging for a progressive whist social.

The youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Head is quite seriously ill with pneumonia.

Mr. A. M. Bailey of Hope Valley, who conducted a market here for ten years before moving to the west part of the state, is in town today, renewing old acquaintances.

A. W. Luther has rented the east store in his building on Ferry wharf to W. F. Davis of Providence.

Barge William H. McCleave arrived this morning with a cargo of pea coal for the Ferry company. This, with the load nearly discharged from barge James E. Mulholland, will give the company more than 1,000 tons of coal on hand.

Lighter Archer arrived last evening with a load of material for the new wharf and joined the dock building fleet already here.

Tomorrow will probably be the quietest town meeting experienced here in a number of years. As according to the present law only the town officers can be voted for and they are unopposed, being the same without exception who now hold office, the meeting will be adjourned to some later day to transact the remainder of the town's business.

WILL IMPERIL ITS CONSTITUTIONALITY.

right of the carrier that had been injured by an order of the commission to sue the commission in the United States circuit court, and stated that, while he was satisfied with the House bill in this particular, yet in order to remove all question as to its constitutionality he offered the amendment giving the right to sue the commission in the United States court, and giving jurisdiction to the court to hear and determine the question whether the order of the commission was beyond its authority in violation of the rights of the carrier secured by the constitution He believed that the courts would assume this jurisdiction under the bill as it was passed by the House, and he does not favor enlarging their present jurisdiction.

Mr. Long contended that the effort is being made to amend this bill so as to substitute the judgment of the courts upon the questions which are for the judgment of the commission.

Mr. Long said that if there is placed in this bill a provision for review similar to the provisions in the different states as shown by the document prepared by Senator Knox one of three things would happen.

"First, the United States courts will follow a course similar to that taken by the supreme court of Minnesota to exercise the rate-making function and confine their consideration of the rate as they do now, to the question as to whether it is confiscatory, and as to whether the commission acted within the authority of the law; or second, the courts will assume the jurisdiction; or third, the Supreme Court, taking a course similar to that taken by the supreme court of Kansas in the court of visitation case, will determine that this attempt to confer upon the courts the legislative and administrative function of fixing rates is unconstitutional, for the reason that the constitution gives to Congress the power to regulate interstate commerce and Congress cannot transfer that power to the courts."

Concerning these propositions, Mr. Long said: "If the court should take the first course under such a provision for review as is desired by the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. Lodge) and the Senator from Ohio (Mr. Foraker) no injury would be done, and those who favored this legislation would not be disappointed; but if the court should take either the second or third course which I have designated—and I think that one of these two courses would surely be taken then the purpose and object of this legislation would entirely fail.

"And so, while I believe that this bill would not be held unconstitutional in its present form, yet I am willing to place in it provisions that are more definite along this line. But I am not in favor of any provision for review similar to those in the different states, to which reference has been made, because I believe that such a provision would imperil the constitutionality of the law."

FOUR HOURS' DEBATE.

Representative Williams Reports National Quarantine Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The House today was treated to the unusual spectacle of Mr. Williams (Miss.) reporting a rule from the committee on rules, bringing before the House the national quarantine bill, provision being made by the rule that four hours' debate shall be had on the bill, and that a vote shall be taken at 5 o'clock.

Mr. Dalzell (Penna.) facetiously called the attention of the House to the position assumed by the leader of the minority reporting a rule to consider a great constitutional question which might with entire propriety be considered for a week or even three weeks, that, instead of the widest latitude being given the consideration of the bill, the leader of the minority now proposed to "gag" the House by limiting the debate to four hours and compelling the body to vote an hour afterward. This sally brought a round of applause, the leader of the minority participating in the humor of the situation.

Mr. Williams said that he would express his opinion during the debate of a code of rules which required him, in order to secure consideration of a bill intended to protect the women and children of a third of the country from the ravages of a foe more deadly than an armed host, to resort to such a procedure.

On the adoption of the rule, the vote was 109 to 32.

COUNT ON MICHIGAN CASES.

Senators Now Sure Rate Bill is Unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Conservative Republican Senators who have contended that the House railroad bill would be unconstitutional, if passed without an amendment giving to common carriers their "day in court," have accepted yesterday's decision of the Supreme Court in the Michigan railroad tax cases as positive affirmation of their position. Several of these Senators met today in the committee room of Senator Aldrich, and after a conference Senator Knox was requested to examine the decision with a view to informing them just what bearing it will have on the pending rate bill. From a hasty examination, Senator Knox declared that it seemed to be in accord with the opinion he has held since the House bill was reported by the Senate committee without amendment.

Supporters of the House bill are not disturbed by the Michigan case, contending that the opinion of Justice Brewer is dictum so far as it concerns pending legislation.

INCREASE OF $4,000,000.

Value of Exports From St. John to England and Africa.

ST. JOHN, New Brunswick, April 3.—Incomplete statistics of the winter season just closed showed a remarkable increase in the value of exports from this port to England and South Africa. The total value of exports to date is $17,787,337, an increase of over $4,000,000 over the season of 1901-05. One sixth of this amount was represented by United States produce. It is estimated by shippers that final figures will show a total value of exports exceeding the sum of $20,000,000. It is estimated that the total grain exportation for the season will reach 6,000,000 bushels. The shipment of cattle already exceeds by 1,300 that of last year.

John Connell's Funeral.

FALL RIVER, Mass., April 3.—At the funeral today of John Connell, for many years an employe on the Fall River line boats, floral tributes were received from H. H. Rogers and Henry Clews. Mr. Connell is credited with having made $100,000 in Wall street, on tips from New York millionaires.

Earthquake Felt in Ashland, Ore.

ASHLAND, Ore., April 3.—Shortly after 9 o'clock last night a distinct earthquake was felt here. The vibrations lasted nearly two seconds.

THE TELEGRAPHONE.

Wonderful Machine in Which Captain Eldridge Expects to Interest Newporters.

Captain George W. Eldridge, whose name has become known all along the coast because of the publication of his coast charts is in town, but is now devoting himself to a new line of work. He is giving demonstrations with the Poulsen Telegraphone, an invention from Denmark which is so novel and promises to fill such an important void that it has been exciting a great deal of attention from the scientists of the world.

A News representative was given an opportunity of inspecting the instrument at the captain's rooms at The Pelham today, and found it to be an instrument which records speech upon a fine steel wire, and retains it for future transmission to any who may desire to listen. In practicable use it permits a business man to talk to this steel wire, and later his stenographer may transcribe the words on a typewriter, or conversation may be recorded and filed away for future reference in case of dispute.

Thus far it performs that which talking machines are said to do, on more perishable records. Where the machine revolutionizes present methods is its adaptability to attachment to the telephone service, so that in the absence of the person desired the message may be delivered to the machine, and by it retained until the person wanted returns and listens to the machine call it off. Yet another feature, though in a little different form, is its ability to record sounds or speech upon an indestructible steel disk, which may then be sent by mail and save the trouble of letter writing.

An American company has been formed to introduce the machine in this country, and this has already begun the construction of machines at Wheeling, W. Va. The American company has applied for patents upon a number of improvements to the foreign machine, and it is Captain Eldridge's purpose to interest Newporters in the invention, which it is predicted will become a great assistant to the conduct of business, as has the telephone, which is now an indispensable article, though made practicable only 30 years ago. A few of these machines are already in practical use in this country, though the American company is not yet ready to turn out machines of its own make.

There seems to be a wide field of uses to which the machine may be put, but the practical test to which it is subjected here may strike one as the most surprising. A Newporter calls up Captain Eldridge by telephone and makes an appointment; then upon making his call the machine reels off to him the very conversation which transpired when the appointment was made, with all the changes in voice.

ONE OF THE OLD LANDMARKS.

Evening Times Building of Buffalo Partly Destroyed by Fire.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 3.—Fire early today partially destroyed the Evening Times building, causing a loss, estimated at $200,000. The loss is covered by insurance. The building was one of the old landmarks of lower Main street, having been built in 1870. It was four stories high and extended through the block from Main to Washington street.

The fire, which started from some unknown cause on the second floor near the Main street, swept through the upper floors in an incredibly short time. Some time after the fire was under control heavy machinery came crashing through from the third floor to the basement, carrying several firemen with it. Fireman D. Reidy and William Cogan were rescued in an unconscious condition and removed to a hospital. The others escaped with slight injuries. Reidy and Cogan will recover.

At one time the Courier Lithographing Company on the north and Lundis Hotel on the south were threatened, but heavy fire walls saved both buildings.

Norman E. Mack, proprietor of the Times, was en route for Detroit last night. He was notified of the fire when he reached St. Thomas, Ontario, and returned to Buffalo this morning. The Times will be issued from the office of the Morning Express today.

Mr. Mack on his arrival home viewed the ruins and later said: "I will order new presses at once, and will rebuild as soon as I can get at it."

He added that he had received offers of assistance from all his associates in the business, and had accepted the offer of George Matthews of the Express, because, that being a morning newspaper, it will be possible to run the two papers off without interfering with each other.

Exile From Costa Rica Arrives.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Tobias Zuniga, who was a candidate for president of Costa Rica at the primaries in that country last November and who was later ordered by his rivals to leave the country, arrived here today on steamer Prinz August Wilhelm from Port Limon.

Utica Bed Factory Burned.

UTICA, N. Y., April 3.—The large four-story manufactory owned by the Foster Brothers Manufacturing Company, and devoted to the making of iron beds and spring mattresses, was burned today. The loss is placed at $350,000. The insurance is about $240,000. There are branches of the establishment in Toronto, St. Louis, Montreal and Winnipeg. The plant will be rebuilt as soon as possible.

TO SIGN THE PROTOCOL.

French Delegates at Algeciras Receive Instructions From Paris.

PARIS, April 3.—Foreign Minister Bourgeois has authorized Mm. Revoil and Regnault, the French delegates to the Algeciras conference, to sign the Moroccan protocol, and has congratulated them in behalf of the French government on the successful conclusion of their work at Algeciras.

FOR JEWS IN MOROCCO.

Text of Resolution Introduced in Algeciras Conference.

ALGECIRAS, Spain, April 3.—The text of the resolution in behalf of the Jews in Morocco introduced yesterday by Ambassador White, head of the American mission, at the conference on Moroccan reforms, sets forth that the Sultan is disposed to accord the Jews equity, but his functionaries do not always sufficiently share the sovereign's tolerancy and justice. Continuing, the resolution says:

"The American delegation therefore asks the conference to record its sentiment in favor of the Sultan's continuing a tolerant attitude, and that the Sultan instruct his functionaries that Israelites and all the subjects without distinction of belief be treated with equity and justice."

The resolution was accorded unanimous and cordial support, including that of the Moorish delegates.

MASQUERADE BASKET BALL.

There will be a unique game of basket ball in the Young Men's Christian Association gymnasium tonight. Although the names of the players have not been announced, they are known collectively as "The Hodgsonians" and "The Dubbs." It is rumored that in the search for suitable make-ups many have been compelled to ask the assistance of ladies. At all events the audience will be treated to many surprises and the members expect considerable amusement.

FOR PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT.

Filipino Students in America Urged to Take Up Athletics.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Special effort is being made by the bureau of insular affairs to have Philippine students in the United States as wards of their home government interest themselves in athletics, so that when they return to the islands they may encourage athletic games and the resulting physical development, which is sadly lacking among the Filipinos.

William A. Sutherland, who is in charge of the young Filipinos attending colleges and universities in all parts of the United States, has written a letter to the students, stating that the Filipinos are more backward in physical than in mental development and urging that they pay particular attention to military drill, gymnasium work and all sorts of athletics. He especially requests that they become proficient in running, jumping and track athletics which require no equipment and can be generally used in the Philippines.

than any other American game in the Philippines, and the young students who have come to this country seem to favor it more than they do other sports. The young Filipinos are unusually active and are especially good in base ball and tennis, but do not seem to get on well in heavy track work and other forms of endurance tests. Jose Gomez won honors on the tug-of-war team of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and is the heaviest of the young Filipinos. He weighs 191 pounds, and Liburlo Gomez, who is a medical student at the University of Chicago, is the lightest of the young men, weighing only 82 pounds.

When the first 100 of the Filipino students came to this country, practically all of them smoked cigarettes and were not given to taking much exercise, as the playing of games is not common among the Filipinos after they are 15 or 16 years of age. They were advised by Mr. Sutherland to quit smoking cigarettes, on the ground that many American families into which they might go might not think well of the habit, and it would hinder their physical development. All the students but 12 quit the use of tobacco entirely, and the second lot of students then followed their example.

American officers in the Philippines have found that constant exercise enables them to resist the debilitating effect of the climate to a large degree. This fact has been made clear to the young students, and as most of them are very ambitious to become influential in the islands they are devoting every energy to acquire habits which will enable them to make the most of their education upon their return to the islands. The government's wards come from all the islands in the Philippine group, and as all will return to their native islands to enter government work their influence, it is figured by the government, will be generally spread throughout the group.

GREAT SHORTAGE OF MEN.

Surprising Facts Regarding Inadequacy of Coast Artillery.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Some surprising facts regarding the inadequacy of the coast artillery force were brought out in the recent examination of Secretary Taft by the Senate committee on military affairs. The Secretary presented data, showing that the present authorized force of coast artillery is sufficient to provide one relief for only 34 per cent of the guns, mines, range finders, etc., now actually installed or authorized for the coast defenses of the United States.

It was also shown that there is an average shortage of more than 30 per cent in the coast artillery companies, and that due to this shortage less than 25 per cent of the defenses can be actually manned by troops now in service. In case of a sudden outbreak of war, 75 per cent of the coast defenses would have to remain idle until volunteers or raw recruits could be trained to handle the high-power guns, mines, etc. This great shortage is said to be due to the fact that the pay is not sufficient to induce men to enlist for the coast artillery.

To obviate these conditions, Representative Hull of Iowa has presented a bill in Congress, which carries increased pay for certain grades in the coast artillery that require technical skill and increases the strength by about 5,000 officers and men. This bill, if passed, will increase the authorized strength to 45 per cent of that required for one relief.

STARTED IN HAY STOREHOUSE.

Fire Damages the Building and Contents in Lynn, Mass.

LYNN, Mass., April 3.—Fire from some unknown cause that started in the hay in the Torrence, Vary Company's hay and grain storehouse, No. 23 Alley street, at 1 o'clock this morning, gutted the wooden building and did a damage of $11,000, $3,000 to building and $8,000 to contents; covered by insurance. At 1 o'clock an attempt was made to burn a 15-cent lodging house, 176 Market street, known to Hoboes all over the country as Hotel Russell. A belated pedestrian saw two men run from behind the building, and notified a policeman, who found that kindling wood had been stacked against the rear of the wooden two-story structure and ignited. The rear wall was burned. The policeman roused the sleepers in the rooms. C. W. Price is the manager and the Swift estate of Boston owns the property. The damage was less than $100, but an investigation will be made.

—The treasury of Newport Council, No. 134, Catholic Benevolent Legion, paid the benefit of the late T. J. McDonald March 26, the proof of death being filed March 22.

—A preliminary test of the Plymouth's boilers has been made and they have proved to be uninjured. The copper was taken out of the safety valve springs, but that appears to be all that the heat did to this part of the equipment.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. C. Taylor, who have been cruising in the Caribbean sea, have returned to New York.

—The masonry work at the new car barn off Vernon avenue is about completed, and the carpenters have begun getting out the frame.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. Watts Sherman and Misses Irene and Mildred Sherman are expected this week at their cottage on Shepard avenue for the season.

—Professor Nathaniel S. Shaler of Harvard University, who is ill with pneumonia at his home in Cambridge, has made addresses a number of times in Newport.

—The retirement of Colonel Luigi Lonza, artillery corps, from active service, to take effect April 1, at his own request, after 42 years of service, is announced.

—The little steamer Blue Jay, formerly owned by Captain Hansen of this city, which was wrecked at Block Island last winter, is now towing mud at New Bedford, having been entirely refitted.

—Mr. and Mrs. Delancey Kane arrived last evening from New York for the season. They will be at the Muenchinger-King for a few days and then occupy their cottage on Narragansett avenue.

—Mr. and Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, who have been making an automobile tour in the south of Europe, returned yesterday afternoon in a private car and are at Sandy Point Farm for the season.

—Mr. P. H. Horgan is building a cottage on a part of the lot at Bull and Mount Vernon streets which once was a part of "The Manse" property. There is still room for another cottage on the same lot.

—Major George F. E. Harrison, formerly on duty at Fort Adams and now attached to the general staff of the United States army, has been ordered to report to the chief of artillery in Washington for duty as an assistant in his office.

—The suctions of steamers 1 and 5 are reported to be in poor condition and not suitable for drawing salt water. The fire department also is in need of new hose, to replace that lost at the Plymouth fire, previous to which it had been hoped that it would not be necessary to purchase any new hose this year.

—Mr. Peter Goelet Gerry will be the host this year of the members of the Coaching Club in New York on the occasion of their annual long-distance run, and will entertain them at Delaware Lake, the Gerry country place in Delaware County. The annual parade of the Coaching Club will take place Saturday, May 5.

—Lieutenant Hugh A. Drum of the Twenty-third infantry, who has been nominated by President Roosevelt to be a captain in the regular service, and who will, if promoted, be the youngest captain in the army, is the son of the late Captain John Drum, who was killed at El Caney and for whom Fort Adams launch Mumbee was renamed the Captain Drum.

—The past winter has been a great one for farmers who collect seaweed, as the shores have been clear of ice and it has been possible to gather seaweed at nearly any time the farmers felt inclined. The result has been that the beaches have been kept as clean as though it were summer, and now that spring is here there is nothing to cart except what comes in from day to day.

—There was an agricultural exhibit at the freight yard this morning which attracted considerable attention. A number of farmers' wagons came in from the island with five pigs and delivered them to a crate car on which something like 50 young pigs were placed. There was a circus after the pigs got on board and until they settled down to their new quarters.

—Rear Admiral and Mrs. Royal B. Bradford have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Katherine Bradford, to Professor Howard Angell Brockway, formerly of New York, but now a member of the faculty of the Peabody Institute, Baltimore. The ceremony will take place April 17 at St. Margaret's Church, Washington. Miss Bradford is a granddaughter of the late Samuel Engs of this city.

—Some attractions play return dates on the reputation previously gained, and "The Tenderfoot" as presented here last evening is one of these. Oscar L. Figman as Professor Zachary Pettibone, LL. D., had to carry the whole thing. When here before it was considered a musical success, but this time, while there were an equal number of people they were sadly "shy" in voice. The original road scenery and costumes gave suggestions of the care once given the production.

Guaranteed by Wright & Hay.

Simple Way to Cure Catarrh by Hyomei Without Stomach Dosing.

It is the height of folly to dose the stomach with internal medicines to cure nasal catarrh. It cannot be cured except the catarrhal germs that are present in the nose, throat and lungs have first been killed.

The soothing air of Hyomei heals the smarting and raw membrane of the air passages in the nose, throat and lungs, kills off the catarrhal germs and rids the system of the last traces of catarrh.

The complete Hyomei outfit consists of a hard rubber inhaler which can be carried in the purse or vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei, and costs only one dollar, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

Wright and Hay positively guarantee a cure when Hyomei is used in accordance with the simple directions on the package, or they will refund the money. This certainly shows their faith and belief in the virtues of Hyomei.

SAIL FOR ATHENS.

American Athletes Who Are to Take Part in Olympic Games.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Sailing on North German Lloyd steamer Barbarossa for Naples today there are the athletes making up the American Olympic team which will take part in the games at Athens, Greece, from April 22 to May 2. The team will proceed from Naples by rail to Brindisi and then by special steamer to Athens. Before sailing the men were all in high spirits and apparently in the best possible condition. They talked over their plans and listened to much good advice from those who wished them well. M. P. Halpin, the team manager, expressed satisfaction in the condition of the men. He said: "Those who may not be quite fit will get so in short order if care and close attention to the rules and regulations count for anything. They form a really exceptional lot of men, and America will have reason to be proud of them when the games are over. There is this to be considered: If one or two men should be out of condition on any day, there will be other stars in the same class who may be relied on. I mean that there are four or five good men in each event. This gives us ample protection against bad luck. The men are enthusiastic and have no stage fright, as they are tried veterans."

Thirty-four athletes made up the team, of whom Daniels and Schwarz sailed Saturday. Those sailing today were Archie Hahn, W. A. Schlek, W. D. Eaton, J. A. Queyreuze, Harry Hillman, F. R. Moulton, Lawson Robertson, Paul Pilgrim, E. B. Parsons, Meyer Prinstein, G. V. Bonhag, Charles J. Bacon, Harvey Cohn, Ray Ewry, R. Edgren, W. G. Frank, J. J. Fowshaw, J. Lightbody, James S. Mitchell, Martin J. Sheridan, J. W. Spencer, M. Spring, Richard Sheldon, H. V. Valentine, J. B. Connolly, R. G. Leavitt, H. W. Kerrigan, Hugo Friend and J. P. Sullivan.

TO LEAVE WELL ENOUGH ALONE.

Platform Adopted by Republicans of Trego County, Kansas.

CHICAGO, April 3.—A despatch to the Record-Herald from Topeka, Kan., says: The Republicans of Trego county yesterday adopted a platform which for brevity probably beats any political declaration ever before made in the United States:

"Resolved, that we leave well enough alone."

That is the whole platform, and it means that President Roosevelt and Governor Hoch and Congressman Reeder are good enough.

DIED AFTER POLICY EXPIRED.

Man Kept Alive by Physicians After Taking Laudanum.

CHICAGO, April 3.—A despatch to the Tribune from Cincinnati says: Physicians kept Joseph H. Wilson alive for three days after he had taken poison to end his life, and thus prevented the accomplishment of his wish to die before his $3,000 insurance policy expired. Wilson was formerly a wealthy leather dealer, but suffered reverses. Because of his financial difficulties his insurance was permitted to lapse March 22. It was then extended to April 1. Finding he was unable to pay, Wilson took laudanum Friday. He left a letter to his wife, explaining the circumstances and directing what should be done with the insurance money. The doctors kept him alive until yesterday, the day after the insurance policy had expired.

DYNAMITE UNDER BUILDING.

Found by Night Watchman, Who Confessed He Did It.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 3.—The Leader today says: Enough dynamite was found under the hoisting engine in the Taylor Arcade, Euclid avenue, yesterday, to wreck that building as well as half a dozen others which cluster about it. Hurney Claypool, a night watchman, in the employ of the American Bridge Company, which is building the Taylor Arcade, found the dynamite, and later, it is alleged, confessed to detectives that he placed the dynamite where it was found because five of his fellow watchmen had been discharged.

This makes the second time that dynamite has appeared as a factor in the labor trouble resulting from disagreement between the contractors building this building and the Structural Iron Workers. The first time was when an attempt was made to wreck the Frankfort Hotel.

HARD COAL MINERS FEEL OPTIMISTIC.

day. All reports of that character, he said, were mere speculation. It had been rumored that the miners would not press all the demands they have made, but would if the mine owners showed a disposition to meet them half way drop some of the propositions they have made. Notwithstanding Mr. Mitchell's firm stand, it is considered quite likely that the Shamokin scale committee would rather make concessions than declare a strike at this time.

The sub-committee of the miners, which is made up of District Presidents Nicholls, Dettry and Fahy and District Secretaries Dempsey, Gallagher and Hartlin, with President Mitchell as chairman, held a brief meeting at headquarters in the Ashland House, prior to the conference with the operators. This committee had not met since the suspension order was issued at Indianapolis last week. It is understood the committee reviewed developments in connection with the suspension of mining which took place throughout the hard coal fields yesterday. The sub-committee members all expressed themselves as satisfied with the situation, and said they felt confident there will be no break in the ranks of the mine workers.

The members of the Shamokin scale committee, which number 37, began arriving here during the forenoon. It has been planned to hold a meeting of this committee tonight to receive a report from the sub-committee of seven. Whether this meeting will be held depends upon what occurs at this afternoon's conference.

President Mitchell received another large number of telegrams today from the various bituminous districts of the union. He informed a reporter for the Associated Press that affairs in the soft coal sections are working themselves out just as he had expected they would. All this information, he said, was of a favorable character. Thousands of men have returned to the mines at increased pay, and he expected to hear during the day that many more soft coal companies had agreed to the 1903 scale.

President Baer of the Reading company arrived here from Philadelphia shortly after 10 o'clock, and immediately went into conference with officials of other coal-carrying roads. It was the original intention to hold the meeting of the sub-committees of the operators and miners in the forenoon, but the conference by agreement was delayed until afternoon, in order to give the operators an opportunity to confer with one another.

AFTER EFFECTS OF HOLIDAY.

Reason for Small Force of Miners at Work in Pittsburg District.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 3.—The expected general resumption of work at the mines in this district where the scale was signed yesterday did not take place today. Early reports indicated that the men were in no hurry to return to work. Only a few plants were reported in full operation, and many were idle. The after effects of yesterday's holiday is said by the operators to be largely responsible for the small forces at work. All the independent plants were shut down, and no effort was made to operate them.

When the miners' district convention resumed its session today, Patrick Dolan, who was deposed from the office of district president, attempted to preside. The delegates demanded his removal, and upon his refusal to vacate a committee of 10 was appointed to eject him from the hall. Fearing the results of the pending injunction proceedings, however, an adjournment for an hour was taken, and in the meantime, a committee of three was to apply to court for an order enjoining Dolan from disturbing the meeting.

When the committee of three consulted counsel they were advised that an order could not be issued without a hearing. The committee then returned to the convention hall and again ordered Dolan to leave. Upon his refusal they took him by the arm to eject him, but he offered no resistance and quietly left.

It is intimated that if Dolan is successful in preventing a general resumption, the Pittsburg Coal Company will appeal to President Mitchell to come here and straighten out the complicated state of affairs.

NO BREAK AMONG OPERATORS.

Independent Employers Sign Scale in Central District.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 3.—The great bituminous coal strike began in earnest today. F. L. Robbins and some of the independent operators in the western Pennsylvania district have signed the 1903 scale contracts presented by the miners. Mr. Robbins has also signed contracts to operate his Ohio and Illinois mines. A number of small independent operators in Ohio, some in Indiana and a large number in Illinois have signed contracts. Up to this time, there is no large break in the ranks of the resisting Indiana, Ohio and Illinois operators.

A special despatch to national miners' headquarters from Wheeling today says: "Indications point to nearly all the operators of the eastern Ohio and West Virginia 'Pan Handle' district signing the scale within the week."

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS.

Miners' and Operators' Committees in Conference.

NEW YORK, April 3.—President Mitchell and the other members of the coal anthracite miners' committee entered the conference room in the Jersey Central building, where they are to meet the operators, about noon. Just before going into conference President Mitchell said: "There has been no change in the situation. I have nothing to say regarding the anthracite coal dispute."

The sub-committee of the operators, who were awaiting the arrival of the miners in the offices of one of the coal companies in the building, entered the conference room in a few minutes after the labor leaders. The members of the operators' committee are George F. Baer, of the Reading; W. H. Truesdale, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad; E. B. Thomas, president of the Lehigh Valley railroad; Morris Williams, president of the Pennsylvania railroad coal companies; J. E. Kerr, vice president of the New York Ontario & Western railroad; David Willcox, president of the Delaware & Hudson company, and J. L. Cake, representing the independent operators.

A request of the newspaper men for admission to the conference was refused, but a statement to be issued at the close of the meeting was promised. The conference was still in session at 2 o'clock. At that time no news of the proceedings was obtainable.

The conference adjourned at 2:45 p. m. to meet again at 4 p. m. Thursday. At the hour of adjournment no result of today's conference was announced, but a statement of its purport was promised shortly.

How's Your Hair?

Wm. H. Cotton Announces That He Has at Last Secured a Cure for Hair Troubles.

We beg to announce to the people of Newport that we have secured the agency for one of the greatest discoveries of recent years. We refer to the prescription of Sir Erasmus Wilson, M. D., England's most successful specialist in diseases of the scalp, who was knighted for his many successes in the treatment of skin and scalp. Upon the death of Dr. Wilson this prescription was secured by American chemists and is now offered to the public under the name of Dr. Wilson's English Life to the Hair. This preparation will grow hair on bald heads even after all else fails. Unlike other hair preparations it is not sticky or greasy, but gives a live and glossy appearance to the hair. Miss Cornelia Stevens, 6 Smith avenue, Boston, Mass., says: "Dr. Wilson's English Life to the Hair grew a magnificent head of hair for me after I was told that I was becoming hopelessly bald. My hair now reaches nearly to my waist and is heavy and glossy. I cannot too highly recommend it." If you are growing bald, troubled with eruptions, dandruff scales or any scalp troubles try Dr. Wilson's Life to the Hair. Albert Chemical Co., Boston, Mass., proprietors. Sold by WM. H. COTTON, 226 Thames street. Price, 50 cents.

LIABILITIES NOT OVER $100,000.

Brokerage Firm of Foote & French of Boston Assigns.

BOSTON, April 3.—The brokerage firm of Foote & French, with offices at 27 State street, this city, announced its assignment today. The firm was a member of the Boston Stock Exchange. The failure was not regarded in trade centres as of great importance. The members of the firm are G. E. Gilbert and Arthur H. Gilbert. The assignees are Joseph B. Warner and Henry Wheeler, both of this city. Assignee Wheeler said that they would not for several days be able to announce the assets or liabilities. The liabilities, he thought, would not exceed $100,000. If they reached that amount, and the assets had not been estimated in any way. The seat in the Boston stock exchange is in the name of Arthur H. Gilbert, a member of the firm.

Later Assignee Warner said he would be greatly surprised if there was not a very substantial settlement with the creditors. Of late, he added, the firm had not been doing a very remunerative business. The firm made a specialty of government and municipal securities.

IN SAFE DEPOSIT VAULT.

About $50,000 of Securities Stolen From Minneapolis Doctor.

NEW YORK, April 3.—About $50,000 worth of the securities alleged to have been stolen by Thomas J. Wainwright from the residence of Dr. Nicholas J. Pinault, in Minneapolis, were found today in a safe deposit vault in a bank in this city, according to one of the detectives who helped in arresting Wainwright last night. Wainwright had a small account in this bank under the name of Louis P. Chute, the detectives say.

He is accused of having stolen $100,000 worth of silverware, securities and jewelry from Dr. Pinault, and told the police today that two trunkfuls of this plunder are in Providence, R. I., where he said he had a brother. Police Inspector McLaughlin said that Wainwright told him that he discovered the combination of the safe, opened it and abstracted the keys to Dr. Pinault's safe deposit vault.

After removing all the valuables he wanted from the house, Wainwright moved to the West Hotel, Minneapolis, and registered under an assumed name. He then engaged a deposit box in the institution where Dr. Pinault's valuables were stored. After tipping the attendants, Wainwright said, he produced the key to Dr. Pinault's box and said he wanted to open it. He did so, took the securities, and came to New York, where he pawned some of the proceeds of the thefts piecemeal, in order to avoid a police trap.

Wainwright said today concerning his brother in Providence: "My brother was not in on the game. He was in Minneapolis when I was cleaning out the Pinault stuff, but he did not know what I was doing. He doesn't know what is in the trunks that are up at his place."

Purity.

Purity is the best of all things; purity is the purest of all things; purity is for men, next to life the greatest good. Thus said the ancient Persian.

How true this is even when applied to material. We should seek the purest food, the purest metal, the purest wearing materials, and the purest paint, which does so much to beautify the home. One hundred per cent. purity is found in the Colonial Paint, for sale by your dealer.

HEAVY VOTE CAST.

Chicago to Decide Upon Question of Municipal Ownership.

CHICAGO, April 3.—Spring-like weather prevailed today while the voting for municipal ownership was in progress. Only aldermen are being voted for, but the questions involved in their selection are held so important that there is every indication of a heavy vote being cast.

The chief issues are whether or not Chicago shall proceed to operate the street railways, and whether $75,000,000 of street car certificates shall be issued for the purchase of the street car companies. The saloon license question has also evoked much feeling. The city council recently passed an ordinance placing the license fee at $1,000, and the liquor interests have made a strong fight against every alderman who is up for re-election who is for the measure.

A heavy vote was registered early in the day.

SEVERAL ARRESTS MADE.

French Strikers Make Demonstration, But Are Dispersed.

LENS, France, April 3.—The strikers in the mining districts now number 44,000. Seven arrests have been made on charges of exploding dynamite cartridges and stoning the police and non-strikers. The strikers made a demonstration today against the arrests, but the cavalry charged and dispersed them. The coal companies are discontinuing the workmen's trains, and the feeling against the companies is increasing.

TERRIBLE ECZEMA ON LITTLE BOY

Mouth and Eyes Covered With Crusts—Face Itched Most Fearfully—Hands Pinned Down to Prevent Scratching

MIRACULOUS CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"When my little boy was six months old, he had eczema. The sores extended so quickly over the whole body that we at once called in the doctor. We then went to another doctor, but he could not help him, and in our despair we went to a third one. Matters became so bad that he had regular holes in his cheeks, large enough to put a finger into. The food had to be given with a spoon, for his mouth was covered with crusts as thick as a finger, and whenever he opened the mouth they began to bleed and suppurate, as did also his eyes. Hands, arms, chest, and back, in short the whole body, was covered over and over. We had no rest by day or night. Whenever he was laid in his bed, we had to pin his hands down; otherwise he would scratch his face, and make an open sore. I think his face must have itched most fearfully.

ALFONSO HOHRATH.

"We finally thought nothing could help, and I had made up my mind to send my wife with the child to Europe, hoping that the sea air might cure him, otherwise he was to be put under good medical care there. But, Lord be blessed, matters came differently, and we soon saw a miracle. A friend of ours spoke about Cuticura. We made a trial with Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent, and within ten days or two weeks we noticed a decided improvement. Just as quickly as the sickness had appeared it also began to disappear, and within ten weeks the child was absolutely well, and his skin was smooth and white as never before." F. Hohrath, President of the C. L. Hohrath Company, Manufacturers of Silk Ribbons, 4 to 20 Rink Alley, South Bethlehem, Pa., June 6, 1905.

NEW YORK, April 3. 11—Stocks did not maintain an even course for any length of time, the irregularity arising from the heavy realizing and the efforts to put selected stocks higher. For an interval after the start prices moved consistently upward with a large demand for the specialties. Urgent selling of Consolidated Gas then began, and when it broke 2½ the entire market fell back. Later the buying of Brooklyn Transit had a moderately sustaining effect.

Noon—Money on call, firm, at 5½; prime mercantile paper, 5¾ @ 5⅞ per cent. The firm money rate with loans at above four per cent and the further weakness of Consolidated Gas weighed on sentiment, and prices receded to a level generally below last night. The trading became very dull at the recession, and there was a brisk rally at noon. Bonds were irregular.

NO. 4 WINS FROM NO. 3.

Teams 3 and 4 rolled an interesting match in the Young Men's Christian Association bowling tournament last evening, No. 4 winning two of three strings. No. 3 took the first string on Groff's spare, the margin being only four pins. The second was close until the last two boxes, when two spares by Peckham and one by Sherman gave 20 extra pins and No. 4 won out. In the third string Ogilvie made 109, but Sherman's 100 and Brownell's 98 won out for No. 4. Sherman made the high total, 238, which included singles of 103 and 100, and Ogilvie made the high single, 109. The individual and team scores were as follows:

SALE OF FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

At noon Thomas Burlingham sold the building of the First National Bank to John T. Johnson, butcher, for $12,000. This did not include the fixtures, which were sold separately. The first bid was $10,000 and the second $12,000. Then bids of $250 were asked for, but none were forthcoming; then $50 bids were asked, with no takers. The auctioneer kept at work for some ten minutes, but the $12,000 bid was not increased and the building went to Mr. Johnson at $12,000. At least $15,000 was expected and some predicted that the $20,000 mark would be reached, but the narrowness of the lot, particularly in the rear, handicapped the purchase as an investment.

MRS. SPOONER'S SOLO.

To the Editor of the News:

Permit me to add a word of commendation to the brief mention made in yesterday's issue of the fine solo, "Hear ye, Israel," sung by Mrs. Carrie Doty-Spooner during Sunday morning's session of the Methodist Conference. The aria is well suited to Mrs Spooner's voice, which was easily heard throughout the large church, filled as it was to the walls and doors with people. The interpretation was musicianly, and the message was given to the hearers in no uncertain manner.

DR. SMITH'S CLOSING LECTURE.

At Kay Chapel this evening Rev. William Walter Smith, secretary of the New York Sunday School Commission, will give the last in the series of seven lectures on Sunday School teaching. His topic will be "Mutual Work in the Sunday School: The Doing Side. Map-making. Picture-Mounting. Books; Self-Expression. Holding Bad Boys." Dr. Smith's lectures have been helpful and inspiring and have attracted large numbers from Trinity, Emmanuel, United Congregational, Second Baptist and Channing Memorial Sunday Schools, as well as many others.

THE PLYMOUTH FIRE SMOKE.

In speaking of the many firemen who suffered sore eyes and were temporarily blinded at the Plymouth fire, a fireman who remembers some things about the burning of the Bristol records that similar troubles afflicted the firemen then. In explanation of this it is suggested that perhaps the burning of copper, brass and other metals in these dies may have something to do with charging the smoke with poisonous fumes, which make the smoke more difficult to endure than that of other fires. Be this so or not, many of the firemen are quite positive that the smoke in last week's fire was the worst that they ever experienced.

THE MUSKRAT AND THE DOGS.

Those Who Saw the Fight Say It Was a "Dandy," But No Official Interfered.

There was a fight on Long wharf last night, a number of interested spectators watching it for some time, and the police did not interfere. It seems as though the Police Commission should "call down" the new inspector for allowing this fight to go on; or perhaps the society with a long name should get after Agent John A. Hazard, in whose province it seems that the affair more properly belongs. As it was after school hours the truant officer cannot be blamed for the presence of any children, even though he might think they could more profitably employ their time. On reflection, perhaps it should have been said at the beginning that Junk Inspector Denman was to blame, though the fight took place on the open wharf and not in a junk shop.

Those who saw the fight say it was a "dandy," though it was a trifle one-sided. A stray muskrat, a big fellow, got down on the wharf and three of the dogs belonging on the wharf formed a trust to shut the muskrat out of business—and this trust was just as successful, in the end, as the Standard Oil trust is in killing off small competitors. In the case under discussion, however, the competitor could not be called small. The dogs chased him from side to side, the rat apparently having the advantage, at the start, of being in his element. After a number of attacks which did not result in anything definite the dogs seem to have agreed on a concerted attack, and when they did they went right into the water and Mr. Muskrat got the short end of the decision in a brief time. The Long wharf dogs feel that there are enough wharf rats in their locality without having any muskrats; this is the second one they have killed this season.

FOUR SCHOONERS ENTERED FOR THE CLARK CUP.

Mr. F. Lewis Clark, owner of auxiliary schooner Emerald and vice commodore of the Eastern Yacht Club, has presented the club with a $500 silver cup, which will be offered as a prize for the 30-foot schooners, class B, in the Eastern Yacht Club's race from New London to Marblehead, Saturday, June 30.

Mr. F. F. Brewster's fast schooner Elmina, designed by Mr. A. Cary Smith, is looked upon as another entry. Much work has been done on the Elmina since last fall, and she will have new racing sails throughout.

Schooner Invader, designed by Mr. A. S. Chesbrough for Mr. Roy A. Rainey, has been entered for this race. She is at Greenport, N. Y., and has been in hand for some time, preparing for the season. Her owner has asked that the yacht be measured at an early date.

Mr. Arthur F. Luke's schooner Corona, which has been given a new deck and an enlarged sail plan, is also entered. The Corona is at Lawley's, South Boston, and her owner intends that she shall be in the best of trim for the season's races.

The club hopes that Mr. J. Rogers Maxwell will have his Herreshoff racing schooner, the Queen, in commission in time to come in also.

With four of the best schooners in the country entered and a $500 cup as the prize, the race should prove an important event.

ANOTHER WIDENING OPPORTUNITY.

To the Editor of the News:

The property of the old First National Bank is, as most folks know, about to be sold. The recent widening of Thames street (a great improvement) came to an end when it reached these premises. There are no legal restrictions or regulations as to building. If anything is done at this point looking to a continuation of the widening of the street, so that it will some day reach Market square, it must be done by the broad and generous-minded planning of the owners of the property. It is but one block to Market square. Perhaps just now it seems well-nigh impossible to continue the widening past it, but it should be hoped and planned for; it is too great a benefit and the distance is too small not to expect it. Will the purchasers of this property plan to set their new front on a line with, or back of, that of the Titus emporium? It is much to be hoped that they will pursue such a far-seeing and liberal policy. It would be a benefit to every citizen of Newport.

THOMAS'S LATEST COMEDY SUCCESS.

The comedy, "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots," which Charles Frohman is to present here, is the latest examination from the pen of Augustus Thomas, who is perhaps the most uniformly successful of contemporaneous native playwrights. This was one of the few successes of the New York stage last season, holding its own there from the night of its premiere, early in the season, until the advent of the summer heat earned the company a merited vacation, though the attendance in the auditorium was undiminished. The play was genuinely popular and it would seem that Mr. Thomas has scored another comedy success, worthy to be numbered with his earlier "Earl of Pawtucket" and subsequent "Other Girl." Mr. Frohman, it is added, has likewise triumphed by virtue of the strength with which he had cast the new comedy. The play is to be repeated here as given in New York.

MRS. ASTOR ENTERTAINS EARL AND LADY GREY.

Colonel and Mrs. John Jacob Astor yesterday afternoon gave a luncheon for Earl Grey, Governor General of Canada, and Lady Grey, at their residence in New York. It was an informal entertainment and small, as it was somewhat hurriedly arranged. There were 18 guests at the table, which was set in the large dining room, effectively decorated with tall branches of spring flowers of various colors, deep red, yellow and white predominating. On the table were massive silver vases filled with long stemmed American Beauty roses and clusters of white hyacinths. In the drawing room, where Mrs. Astor, wearing a costume of delicate shaded heliotrope chiffon cloth, received, there was a tasteful disposition of cut flowers, while in the art gallery were clusters of palms and American Beauty roses.

Besides Colonel and Mrs. Astor and the Earl and Lady Grey there were seated at the table Lady Evelyn Grey, daughter of Earl and Lady Grey; Lady Alexandra Beaudere, who has been at Rideau Hall, Ottawa, for some time, and is a member of the viceregal party; Colonel Hanbury-Williams, military secretary to Earl Grey, and Mr. Arthur Sladen, his private secretary; Miss Gwendolen Burden, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gordon Norrie, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Mrs. Ogden Mills, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Burden, Jr., Mr. George W. Smalley and Mr. W. Bourke Cockran.

THE COACHING SEASON.

Opening Run Scheduled for April 23, and Bookings Nearly Full for Half the Summer.

Notwithstanding the great popularity into which the automobile has come, this promises to be the greatest season for coaching in recent years in New York. Almost three weeks will elapse before the Pioneer starts from the Holland House on its first trip of the year to Ardsley, but the number of bookings already is unprecedented.

The day scheduled for the first run, April 23, is a fortnight later than the opening of the season last year, but considering the postponement of the arrival of spring and the consequent condition of some of the roads at present, it would have been unwise, in the opinion of members of the Coaching Club, to have fixed on an earlier date. The first run will be made June 2.

A new coach has been built and a fine lot of horses are being assembled. There will be about 46 in service. The Pioneer, as in other seasons, will leave the Holland House promptly at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, and is due to arrive on the return at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, William Goadby Loew and Robert L. Gerry will be the whips this year, and Mr. Vanderbilt will be on the box on the opening run. For that event Mr. Center Hitchcock, as in several years past, has taken the entire coach.

Though no notice has yet been given in regard to bookings, the coach has been taken entire for every day of the first fortnight, and it is said that it is booked full already for half the season. From present indications there will not be a day when the Pioneer will not be sent out with every seat taken. Several well known society hostesses who had the coach last year have not yet made reservations, and the suggestion was made yesterday that unless they make haste to do so they will find their favored dates gone.

Those who have taken the coach for runs during the first fortnight include Mr. Gallatin, George Morris, Worthington Whitehouse, J. Gradon Douglas, William Laimbeer, L. P. Dodd, E. C. Potter, J. M. Mahl, E. S. J. McVickar, S. Blair Painter, Mrs. W. T. Meredith and Charles E. Sawtelle.

Mr. Alfred G. Vanderbilt will run his road coach Venture from the Holland House to the races at Belmont Park this year, but has decided not to attempt runs to other Long Island race tracks. Mr. Vanderbilt will make his first run May 10. Bookings for the Venture have already started in well.

NEW BOOKS.

An Introduction to the Book of Common Prayer,

By the Rev. E. J. Dennen.

This book is dedicated to the officers, teachers and pupils of his former Sunday school, Trinity Parish, Newport, R. I., and to his present Sunday school, St. Stephen's, Lynn, Mass.

The book is very handsomely made and has illustrations of pages from some of the old service books used in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries. It makes a nice book for an EASTER present and a very useful help to those who wish to know how the Prayer Book came to be compiled and the meaning of the different services.
